TACOMA, Wash., May 27.—(AP)—Three men and a woman are sought in the kidnaping of George Weyerhaeuser, it was learned tonight as the parents of the 9-year-old heir to a timber empire made another desperate effort to start negotiations over the $200,000 ransom demand.

In revealing official assumptions concerning the size of the kidnap band, a high state police official who asked his name be withheld asserted a woman wrote the ransom note.

"Vengeful radicals," he added, are being considered as possible perpetrators of the crime.

Radicals are among the suspects, he said, because of rumors of fancied wrongs from the wealthy timber family, whose interests are involved in a widespread northwest lumber workers' strike.

"Understand," said the official, "I do not mean we have eliminated the idea that an organized criminal mob is responsible. But we have seriously discussed the possibility that it was the work of radicals."

"If that is correct, it is not so much the matter of collecting ransom as it is a reprisal at the lumber family for fancied wrongs. It may be connected in some way with the lumber strike—we are not sure yet."

Typed by Woman.
The official said a scientific study of the ransom note, which bore striking similarity to the Limbergh kidnaping letters, indicated "that the note was typed by a woman."

"Further," he said, "a woman of fine sensibilities," he explained, "for instance, the word 'kill' does not appear in it once. Instead, she used the word 'slay.'"

M'ELROY KIDNAPER IS GIVEN LIFE TERM ON VICTIM'S PLEA

Death on Gallows Averted
by Governor Park as He Commutes Sentence to Life Imprisonment.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., May 27. (AP)—Dark-eyed Mary McElroy, who resigned herself to death when kidnaped for $300,000 exactly two years ago, succeeded today in saving her abductor, Walter McGee, from execution on the gallows.

Governor Guy B. Park, from the fearful plea of the attractive young woman, commuted McGee's sentence to life imprisonment—only four days before the stock kidnaper was scheduled to become the first person in the United States to hang for the offense.

Thus, as a new kidnaping mystery deepened on the Pacific coast, was brought to an end here one of the strangest cases of the kind the nation has seen.

"This is a big load off my mind," the pretty victim who had no desire for revenge sighed when told of the commutation at the home of her father, City Manager H. F. McElroy, in Kansas City.

"Now maybe I can enjoy a good night's sleep."

Pleads for Life.
McGee first was sentenced to hang May 10. Governor Park granted a stay to May 31 after Miss McElroy visited the governor and pleaded for McGee's life "for my own peace of mind."

The heavy-browed McGee, who led three companions in kidnaping Miss McElroy May 27, 1933, and holding her chained to a dungeon-like basement wall for 20 hours, was slouched in his death cell at Kansas City when the news was carried to him today.

"The governor couldn't have given me a better birthday present," he shouted.

30 Years Old Today.
McGee will be 30 years old tomorrow.

Relating her experiences after the kidnaping, the comely victim said that "at no time did I expect to be released."

DECISION AFFECTS 420,000 WORKERS IN STATE FIRMS

Ruling Believed To Have Ended Litigation Against
John E. Whitley, La-Grange Contractor.

Decision of the United States supreme court invalidating the NRA affects 420,000 workers in Georgia, operating under various codes and affects 15,000 firms under codes, it was said as the state studied the effects of the decision.

The court's action apparently ended the litigation against John E. Whitley, LaGrange contractor, and probably means that all highway contracts will be awarded to the lowest bidder, with contractors permitted to pay whatever scale of wages they desire.

Samuel D. Hewlett, Hugh Howell and Hal Lindsay, attorneys for Whitley, yesterday announced they would go before Judge E. Marvin Underwood in a few days and ask that he dismiss the temporary injunction against Whitley prohibiting him from paying less than the NRA scale of federal-aid road projects.

They also announced they would ask Judge Bascom Deaver in the middle Georgia federal district court at Macon to quash 75 indictments pending against Whitley, charging him with paying less than the NRA scale.

Appeal Now Pending.
Attorney Lindsay, speaking for the Whitley counsel, said Section 6-A of the NRA, which the supreme court held unconstitutional, was the section on which Whitley based his appeal of the injunction to the circuit court of appeals. The appeal is now before the United States supreme court.

Lindsay said the dismissal pleas would be filed with Judges Underwood and Deaver as soon as certified copies of the high court's decision reach Atlanta.

Governor Talmadge, critic of the national administration, said "private industry will immediately take on new life and hasten back recovery" in commenting last night on action of the United States supreme court ruling the NRA unconstitutional.

"The courts and the country are to be congratulated on the termination of the National Recovery Act," he said.

Talmadge talked from his farm at Forsyth, Ga., where he went for a few hours to look after the crops.

Board Hearing Case.
The regional labor board halted a hearing on the case.

WINE IMPORTATION INTO STATE LEGAL

Fleming Cites Court Ruling
Proving Georgia
Cannot Bar Vintages.

By permitting the manufacture and sale in Georgia of Georgia-made wine, the state has thrown open its markets to wine made in any other state or country, according to William H. Fleming, of Augusta, former member of congress and one of the outstanding constitutional authorities in the state.

Mr. Fleming, in a statement issued yesterday, declared wine can be imported into the state and then quoted a decision by the United States supreme court as proof.

"Wine can be shipped into Georgia from California or anywhere else under the interstate commerce act," the noted attorney said. "All doubts, if any existed, on that subject were removed by a recent decision of the supreme court in the United States in the case of Baldwin versus Seelig, which decision was handed down March 4."

New York Case Cited.
The case cited by the Augusta attorney is that of Charles H. Baldwin, commissioner of agriculture and markets of New York, against G. A. F. Seelig, agent of a New York city dairy firm. In the case in question Baldwin attempted to prevent the Seelig company from bringing milk into New York from Vermont.

The supreme court, in an opinion read by Justice Cardozo, declared emphatically that one state cannot bar the products of another state for any reason.

"One state in its dealing with another may not place itself in a position of economic isolation, the opinion states. 'Neither the power to tax nor the police power may be used by the state of destination with the aim and effect of establishing an economic barrier against competition with the products of another state or the labor of its residents.'"

Held Unconstitutional.

Kitten Used as Pay-off In Atlanta 'Catnaping'

A new racket which will probably go down as catnaping developed in Atlanta yesterday when it became known that one Atlanta victim followed instructions and paid off to the extent of two Persian kittens for the return of her prize Persian tom, "Jerry."

Jerry disappeared last week, and on Friday his owner, Mrs. E. P. Donaldson, of Cleveland avenue, received a mysterious phone call.

"We have your cat," said the voice on the wire. "We are leaving for Florida immediately." Then followed instructions to bring two Persian kittens, genuine Persian and none other, to a Cooper street address, whereupon the missing Jerry would be delivered safe and sound.

Mrs. Donaldson delivered the kittens and gathered Jerry into her arms.

"O tempora, O mores," she moaned, "but what else could I do?"

Robert Lee Freed
FROM DEKALB JAIL

Chicagoan and Atlantan
Aid in Release of Counsel for American Bond and Share Firm.

After more than two months spent in the DeKalb county jail, Robert E. Lee, attorney under federal indictment in connection with the $700,000 collapse of American Bond & Share Corporation, yesterday obtained his release in bonds of $18,500, approved by Federal Judge E. Marvin Underwood.

Dr. Robert F. Ingram, Atlanta dentist, and Bert L. Silbermann, of Chicago, scheduled real estate in Atlanta and in McHenry county, Illinois, to provide Lee his liberty.

Dr. Ingram listed two residential properties, one at 1437 Holderness street and the other at 69 East Lake terrace. Silbermann scheduled a farm in McHenry county, Illinois, valued at $31,200.

Lee is under indictment on charges of using the mails to defraud; conspiracy to use the mails to defraud and to violate the United States securities act, and violation of the securities act. His bond on the mail fraud charges was $10,000 and on the conspiracy charges, $5,000. To these were added $3,500 each on seven counts of violating the securities act. This made a grand total of $18,500.

The attorney was taken into custody by the United States marshal's office on March 23 after indictments had been returned against him and Benjamin K. Bradley, president of American Bond & Share, and now a fugitive. Bonds were set at $20,000, which, at a hearing ten days later before Judge Underwood, were reduced to $15,000.

Lee was unable to raise the $15,000 bond, although several attempts were made to do so. Then the additional indictments were returned against him, making the $18,500 total.

When the attorney was attempting to obtain a bond reduction, he inquired of the United States marshal.

South Carolina Begins Legal Sale of Liquor

COLUMBIA, S. C., May 27.—(AP)—The legal sale of liquor began in South Carolina today for the first time in two decades as licensed liquor stores were permitted to open under the state control law recently passed by the legislature.

However, as the first day of legal retail sales arrived, only the stores had been licensed. These were in Columbia, Charleston and York. More than 125 applications were pending before the state tax commission.

Two of the victims were seriously injured by gunshot wounds. The school children, passing the factory when the violence broke out, were suffering mostly from effects of tear gas bombs thrown to quell the riot.

Bystanders said the violence was precipitated when an armored car loaded with workers and guards was driven out of the plant yard and stopped about 500 yards from the company inn. Occupants of the armoured car fired several shots into a crowd of people standing outside the plant, where a strike has been in progress for two weeks.

The children were herded into a restaurant as the violence started. The restaurant owner took them down into a basement as tear gas bombs were hurled.

Mr. James R. Gray Sr. was re-elected chairman of the board of directors. John A. Brice, general manager of the Journal, was named vice president and general manager.

Officers of the journal, in addition to those listed above, are John Paschall, managing editor; J. L. Wilford, secretary and treasurer, and George C. Biggers, business manager.

EFFECT OF RULING ON CAPITAL, LABOR WIDELY DEBATED

Business Executives Split
in Opinions While Union Leaders See Nothing
But Dark Future.

By the Associated Press.

The future of American business without NRA was uncharted last night as leaders weighed the supreme court's sweeping decision against the recovery act, the subsequent suspension of all compulsory code enforcement and the administration's plea to employers to co-operate until a new structure could be raised.

Officials of national organizations under codes were cautious in dictating a course of action without NRA. Many prepared to call conferences soon to chart their future.

Labor chiefs in many sections called on workers to hold firm for gains made under the NRA, while William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, called his aides into conference.

Others saw confusion and chaos without the guiding hand of the Blue Eagle until the Roosevelt administration could clarify the situation with new legislation.

Hugh S. Johnson, the original NRA administrator who launched the Blue Eagle on a stormy flight, declared the New Deal is in "black confusion" at this moment.

"The NRA as written has rolled up," he said. "The principles, I think, remain."

Such organizations as the American Iron & Steel Institute, the National Retail Dry Goods Association and the Automobile Manufacturers' Association indicated through spokesmen that no immediate action was contemplated and none would be taken until officials had determined the full import of the decision.

Ammon McClellan, administrator of the distilled spirits rectifying code, declared the adverse decision and failure of congress to enact any control legislation indicated through spokesmen that no immediate action was contemplated and none would be taken until officials had determined the full import of the decision.

Francis J. Gorman, vice president of the United Textile Workers of America, bluntly warned that strikes would be called if the government failed to depart from code provisions regarding wages, hours or other provisions of employment.

15 School Children, 10 Others Hurt in Riot

CANTON, Ohio, May 27.—(AP)—Twenty-five persons, including 15 school children, were injured late today as violence broke out in the strike of the Berger Manufacturing Company here.

Two of the victims were seriously injured by gunshot wounds. The school children, passing the factory when the violence broke out, were suffering mostly from effects of tear gas bombs thrown to quell the riot.

Bystanders said the violence was precipitated when an armored car loaded with workers and guards was driven out of the plant yard and stopped about 500 yards from the company inn. WASHINGTON, May 27.—(AP)—Legislation enabling debt-burdened farmers to obtain a partial five-year moratorium on their mortgage debts was blasted off the statute books today by the supreme court.

Unanimously, the high tribunal held the Frazier-Lemke act unconstitutional, speaking these words through the mouth of the veteran associate justice, Louis Brandeis:

"For the fifth amendment commands that, however great the nation's need, private property shall not be taken even for a wholly public use without just compensation."

This ultimatum pitched out of the court the 11-month-old moratorium act—a measure designed to allow farmers to retain their lands for five years at a reasonable rental, despite efforts of mortgage holders to foreclose, and at the end of the five years permit the farmers to fulfill the mortgage by paying the appraised value of the property regardless of the amount stipulated in the mortgage.

Reaction to the court's ruling was instantaneous.

ATLANTA JOURNAL ELEVATES GRAYS

Inman Gray Named President and J. R. Gray Vice President and Editor.

Inman Gray was named president and J. R. Gray vice president and editor of the Atlanta Journal yesterday by the board of directors, following the annual meeting of stockholders.

The posts of president and editor had been held for 18 years by Major John S. Coh, who died on May 13.

In a joint resolution, stockholders and directors mourned Major Coh's passing as the loss of "an able executive, a masterly leader, and a devoted friend" who "maintained the high principles and carried forward the splendid traditions for which the paper had stood under his honored predecessor, the late James R. Gray."

John Morton Smith was added to the Journal's board of directors to fill Major Coh's place on that body.

Mr. James R. Gray Sr. was re-elected chairman of the board of directors. John A. Brice, general manager of the Journal, was named vice president and general manager.

Officers of the journal, in addition to those listed above, are John Paschall, managing editor; J. L. Wilford, secretary and treasurer, and George C. Biggers, business manager.

Here Are Highlights Of Opinion on NRA

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(AP)—Here are some of the highlights of the supreme court's decision today declaring NRA unconstitutional:

We are told that the provisions of the statute authorizing the adoption of codes must be viewed in the light of the grave national crisis with which congress was confronted.

Undoubtedly, the conditions to which power is addressed are always to be considered when the exercise of power is challenged. Extraordinary conditions may call for extraordinary remedies. But the argument necessarily stops short of an attempt to justify action which lies outside the sphere of constitutional authority. Extraordinary conditions do not create or enlarge constitutional power.

The constitution established a national government with powers deemed to be adequate, as they have proved to be both in war and peace, but these powers of the national government are limited by the constitutional grants.

Those who act under these grants are not at liberty to transcend the imposed limits because they believe that more or different power is necessary.

Section three of the recovery act (that which empowers the government to regulate business by code) is without precedent. It supplies no standard for any trade, industry or activity. It does not undertake to prescribe rules of conduct to be applied to particular states of fact determined by appropriate administrative procedure.

In view of the scope of that broad declaration and of the nature of the few restrictions that are imposed, the discretion of the president in approving or prescribing codes, and thus enacting laws for the government of trade and industry throughout the country, is virtually unfettered.

We think that the code-making authority thus conferred is an unconstitutional delegation of legislative power.

Decisions which deal with a stream of interstate commerce—where goods come to rest within a state temporarily and are later to go forward in interstate commerce—and with the regulations involved in that practical continuity of movement, are not applicable here.

In determining how far the federal government may go in controlling interstate transactions upon the ground that they "affect" interstate commerce, there is a necessity and well established distinction between direct and indirect effects. The precise line can be drawn only as individual cases arise, but the distinction is clear in principle.

The distinction between direct and indirect effects of interstate transactions is not applicable here.

Full Text of Supreme Court Decision in Page 10.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(AP)—The administration bowed tonight before a supreme court ruling that reduced the NRA to a scrap of paper, announcing that all measures for compulsory enforcement of codes had been abandoned, but pleading for a continued code observance.

"Apparently fearful of a return to unbridled competitive conditions, following a unanimous verdict of unconstitutionality from the high court, Donald R. Richberg, NRA head, discussed future steps with President Roosevelt and decided upon the two actions."

On two specific counts the court found the sections of the national industrial recovery act unconstitutional. It held the congress had illegally delegated its own powers to the president in authorizing him to approve and promulgate the codes.

It ruled congress may not reach into a community and tell a poultry dealer whose business only indirectly affects interstate commerce how much he shall pay his help and what the latter's working hours shall be.

Fairness Pleas.
In his statement, issued after the White House conference, Richberg said:

"It would be most harmful to the general welfare if unfair competitive practices, universally recognized as such, were to be revived, and if the fair standards affecting labor were to be disregarded."

"Therefore, pending the determination of this question (of what shall be done) I hope that all employers heretofore operating under approved codes and all their employees will co-operate in maintaining those standards of fair competition in commercial and labor relations which have been written into the codes with practically universal sanction, and which represent a united effort to eliminate dishonest, fraudulent trade practices and unfair competition in overworking and underpaying labor."

The decision," he said, "makes all codes and competition unenforceable as a matter of law; and in defiance of the law."

A WORD TO THE WIVES IS SUFFICIENT

The meals you serve help keep the family fit. In many homes, common constipation develops as a result of insufficient "bulk" in the menu. This can be overcome by a delicious cereal.

Research shows that Kellogg's All-Bran furnishes "bulk" in convenient form. All-Bran also provides vitamin B and iron.

How much better it is to eat this gentle natural food than to risk taking patent medicines. Continued use does not lower its effectiveness. Two tablespoons daily are usually sufficient. Chronic cases, with each meal. If not relieved, see your doctor.

Serve as a cereal with milk or cream, or use in cooking. Appealing recipes on the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

HOLC READY TO REOPEN WITH NEARLY 2 BILLION

Only Signature of President Needed to Provide Mortgage Aid.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(AP)—The Home Owners' Loan Corporation tonight was ready to swing its long-closed doors to receive new applications for aid from distressed home owners.

The starting again of its machinery was dependent only upon the virtually certain signature by President Roosevelt of a bill giving the corporation an additional $1,750,000,000.

Of this amount $300,000,000 must be invested in home loan bank debentures. The rest will be available to help mortgage-burdened home owners who already have received $2,600,820,136.

Within the last two weeks several scores of appraisers and other professional men have been restored to the corporation's pay roll to care for the expected rush. These men were dropped last November when the corporation stopped new applications.

The corporation has before it 283,889 old applications for loans totaling approximately $851,969,000.

Of the original fund of $3,200,000,000 the agency has about $300,000,000 to care for old applications.

Should all of the old applications be granted, which is unlikely, it would take $900,000,000 of new funds, leaving only $850,000,000 for new applications.

AN INCREASE OF NEARLY 12,000 TITHERS was noted during the year, the report said, making a total of 30,000 Presbyterians who support the church's benevolence and local work by contributing ten per cent of their income.

INCREASE IN TITHERS AIDS CHURCH FUNDS

MONTREAT, N. C., May 27.—(AP) Adoption of 700 churches of a 13-week period of titling is credited by the annual report of the Southern Presbyterian church's committee on stewardship and finance with bringing a gain of $42,000 in gifts to benevolent causes.

The committee's report will be presented to the church's general assembly which opens here Thursday. The committee said the titling plan, presented to the assembly a year ago, had spread widely and resulted in an increase in interest, attendance and gifts.

An increase of nearly 12,000 titthers was noted during the year, the report said, making a total of 30,000 Presbyterians who support the church's benevolence and local work by contributing ten per cent of their income.

Capt. Eavenson, Gray Veteran, Looks Back on 95 Years of Life

Captain J. W. Eavenson, late of Company G, Third Georgia Infantry and, prior to that, of Company F, 38th Georgia Infantry, C. S. A., will celebrate his 95th birthday today at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Willard N. Bailey, at 151 Ponce de Leon avenue, N. E.

He will celebrate it with a special birthday dinner and with scores of telegrams, letters and presents from his family and friends. There are about 110 or 115 descendants living. The captain is not certain as to the exact number, but anyway there are nine living children, 32 grandchildren, 43 great-grandchildren and a few great-great-grandchildren.

Captain Eavenson was born in Elbert county on May 28, 1840. In 1861 he volunteered in the 38th Georgia Infantry and was made a sergeant, serving under Captain John Thornton. In 1862 he was attached to Jackson's division, under the command of General Robert E. Lee. He was ill in the hospital and missed the battle of Richmond, but was present at the capture of Manassas Junction and fought for two days at the second Manassas engagement. He took part in the pursuit of the Federals through Maryland and then marched back to Virginia, where he was again sent to the hospital on sick leave.

Net Train in Tunnel. Recovering, he took the train for Lynchburg to rejoin his outfit but was left behind at a small stop where he had not got off for a drink of water. So he walked to Staunton, Va. En route he walked through a mile-long tunnel and met a train midway. The train passed over him.

He was in the second Fredericksburg fight and, on December 13, 1863, was wounded when a ball passed through his left shoulder. He was sent home and found disabled for further field service and assigned to the cavalry state service as first lieutenant.

After the war he became a member of the Sons and Daughters of the Pilgrimage of the United States and was one of the U. S. C. and S. C. V. and several of his grandsons saw service with the A. E. F. during the World War.

Captain Eavenson does not care to talk about his experiences in the War Between the States and for this reason rarely attends Confederate reunions. He says war is too sad and cruel for his memory to be perpetuated and he thinks all wars should be forgotten as soon as possible.

tenant, later being promoted to captain. His duty was the capture of deserters from the Confederate ranks who had fled to the mountains of north Georgia.

He helped the defense of Augusta against Sherman and then marched with the retreating army to Macon and was present at the defense of the Double Bridges over the Flint river. He surrendered in April, 1865, and on his way home to Elbert county learned of the surrender of Lee. He was discharged at Hartwell on May 15, 1865, as captain of Company G, Third Georgia reserves of Blount's battalion, by General Brown.

Captain Eavenson joined the Concord Methodist church in Elbert county when he was only 15 years old and for more than 50 years was a steward and Sunday school teacher in his church. He spent his life after the war as a farmer and merchant until his retirement some years ago.

His second wife died five years ago at the age of 35 and since then he has lived with his children, having been with Mrs. Bailey on Ponce de Leon avenue for the last year.

About a year ago he fell and injured his hip and since that time has not been as active, though his physician says he is otherwise in perfect health except for deafness. His vision is unimpaired.

Captain Eavenson was the first man in Georgia to become a member of the Sons and Daughters of the Pilgrimage of the United States and was one of the U. S. C. and S. C. V. and several of his grandsons saw service with the A. E. F. during the World War.

Captain Eavenson does not care to talk about his experiences in the War Between the States and for this reason rarely attends Confederate reunions. He says war is too sad and cruel for his memory to be perpetuated and he thinks all wars should be forgotten as soon as possible.

License fees ranging up to $750 annually for drinking establishments in the state's larger counties are provided in the bill. The gallonage tax ranges from 6 cents on beer up to 80 cents on liquor.

The new law prohibits sale of liquor within 2,500 feet of any school or church in the rural areas, but such regulations in cities were left to the municipal governing authorities.

Food must be offered for sale at all times in places where liquor is sold by the drink, and the drinkers must be seated. Swinging doors or screens that would hinder a view into the place are prohibited.

Persons selling liquor in sealed containers, for consumption off the premises, are licensed at a scale of 75 per cent of what the drinking establishments pay. Sale of liquor in counties which have not voted wet by local option is prohibited.

Bulwinkle Resting. WASHINGTON, May 27.—(AP)—Representative Bulwinkle, democrat, North Carolina, was reported resting comfortably today at Walter Reed hospital where he is recovering from a slight heart attack suffered last week.

John Slear, the representative's secretary, said Bulwinkle would be absent from his office for about two weeks.

NEW COMPROMISE IS OFFERED ON BONUS WASHINGTON, May 27.—(AP)—A new bonus compromise was proffered today, but there was no indication it would be accepted by the groups fighting for full cash payment.

Senator Pittman, democrat, Nevada, introduced a bill for an 80 per cent payment of the bonus certificates, with an expression of hope that President Roosevelt might be persuaded to sign a measure more liberal than the Harrison compromise which the senate turned down.

Cash bonus forces, however, went ahead with plans for a strategy meeting tomorrow to devise plans for renewing the fight for full cash payment. House and senate friends of the Patman inflationary bill will participate.

The bonus bloc had consistently refused to accept the compromise bill of Senator Harrison, democrat, Mississippi, chairman of the senate finance committee, which was advanced several weeks ago with assurance President Roosevelt would sign it. It proposed to pay $770 on the average $1,000 certificate, or $180, if the retiree had borrowed up to the full limit.

SECRETARY DERN FLIES TO ARKANSAS HOSPITAL HOT SPRINGS, Ark., May 27.—(AP)—Secretary of War George H. Dern arrived here by airplane late today for a week's visit at the Army and Navy General Hospital.

The secretary made the trip from Washington in a Martin bomber, the army's largest and fastest type of plane. He was accompanied by an aide.

Colonel James D. Fife, commandant of the Army and Navy General Hospital, and staff met Secretary Dern at the airport and escorted him to the hospital, where the cabinet officer left orders not to be disturbed.

Dern will inspect the hospital and rest here several days before returning to Washington to accompany President Roosevelt to West Point for the graduation exercises.

GERMAN PARTICIPATION IN NAVAL PARLEY SEEN

London Talks Expected To Pave Way for Next World Meet.

LONDON, May 27.—(UP)—Germany, emerging from her long political isolation as an armed power, was reported tonight preparing to participate in the next world naval conference, scheduled for later this year.

Her participation may be one indirect result of the forthcoming Anglo-German preliminary naval discussions now scheduled to open in London June 4.

The conference will be a sequel to conversations among British and German statesmen in Berlin several weeks ago. The British expect them to be virtually a continuation of Sir John Simon's talks with Hitler on arms and other military and political issues in a new effort to bring the reich back to the League.

The naval talks, officials emphasized, are to be purely informal and informative—but the feeling grew that they are sure to pave the way to eventual German participation in world talks on sea power.

The world parley, in this event, would include six nations, instead of five, as in 1930—namely, Britain, the United States, Japan, France, Italy and Germany.

The reich's program to construct a number of small but efficient submarines, ostensibly for patrol duty in the North Sea and Baltic, called British attention sharply to Hitler's naval armaments program, and centered interest in his development of Germany again as a naval power which might menace the British Isles.

The German naval delegation will be headed by Joachim von Ribbentrop, Hitler's personal representative. The German air plans also continued to interest the government. Sir John, in comments today, replying to a query on whether the government intended to convene a conference immediately to negotiate an air pact, said:

"For some time past we have been in communication with other governments on the possibility of an air pact."

This presumably would include Britain, France, Italy, Belgium and Germany in a western aerial Locarno, or mutual air aid treaty.

Levy Affects Every Person Conducting Business, in Professions.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., May 27.—(AP)—The Florida senate tonight substituted a one-fourth of 1 per cent gross receipts privilege tax for a 3 per cent general sales tax and then passed the new tax bill, 24 to 12.

The new finance measure would levy one-fourth of 1 per cent gross receipts privilege tax on "each and every person for conduct of any business, trade, occupation, or profession doing business in the state."

The annual revenue, variously estimated by the sponsors at from $3,000,000 to $8,000,000, would go to make up the $10,500,000 public school fund to pay costs of teachers' salaries and rural transportation for a full term of eight months each year.

Sponsors of the measure said the remainder of the fund would come from sale of automobile tags, the 1 mill ad valorem tax for schools, interest on state school funds and chain store taxes.

The fractional gross receipts tax would be levied in addition to other occupational or excise taxes now collected and would be based on the gross business done the previous year.

In the case of new businesses the tax would be computed on invested capital.

The senate passed a bill creating the Florida ship canal navigation district comprising six counties, authorized to levy special taxes to provide funds to obtain rights-of-way for a proposed cross-state canal.

Duval, Clay, Putnam, Marion, Levy and Citrus counties, all lying along the route of the proposed project, were set up as the taxing district.

A similar bill was introduced in the house, sponsored by representatives of the six counties. It went to the local bill calendar and its passage apparently was assured.

The bill authorized creation of a board of commissioners of five empowered to incorporate the district at an amount not greater than $1,500,000, and to borrow up to $200,000 immediately upon enactment of the bill for organization expenses.

NEW CAR!

FIRST Truly De Luxe Car of Low Price!
FIRST Car with Monitor-Sealed Motor!

NEW NASH "400"

THERE'S ONLY ONE WORD FOR IT—REVOLUTIONARY!

REMEMBER that statement as time goes by . . . and other cars begin to be patterned after this new Nash "400". For here is a car so advanced, so different, so much better, it cannot help influencing the future design of other cars. Read what this sensational car offers you . . . then enjoy the sensation of driving it.

MONITOR-SEALED MOTOR—First major motor improvement in years. All manifolds sealed inside the motor block. Design so simplified, so clean cut, that several hundred previously necessary parts are totally eliminated. Results: Uniform efficiency regardless of outside temperature. Gasoline saving! Oil saving! Simplified service! Longer life!

RAPID SERVICE HOOD—"400" Rapid Service Hood design eliminates hood lifting. The radiator ornament is hinged. Oil and water filler caps are directly underneath. Oil supply gauge is on the dash.

STEEL TOP, ALL-STEEL BODY—First car to combine the safety of an All-Steel, One-Piece body with a Steel Floor and a Seamless Steel Top. The steel cross-membered steel floor reinforces the frame and the frame in turn reinforces the body.

AEROFORM DESIGN—First completely streamlined one of low price.

ROOMIEST CAR AT THE PRICE—The widest seats. The most headroom. A big car of 117-inch wheelbase—191 1/4 inches overall length.

SYNCHRONIZED SPRINGING—First introduced on 1935 Nash and Nash-built LaFayettes, Synchronized Springing, with spring action modified front and rear, revolutionizes the "ride"—Puts a new road under the wheels." Back seat ride and front seat ride identical in comfort.

BALANCED WEIGHT—Nash is one of the few manufacturers who design the car weight 50-50 front and rear! Perfect weight division is engineered into the "400."

MIDSECTION SEATING—Rear seat passengers ride ahead of rear axle, closer to center of the car. Sedans have real six-passenger capacity.

SUPER-HYDRAULIC BRAKES—Plus Duo-Servo action which needs but slight pedal pressure. The motion of the car assists the stop!

CLUTCH-PEDAL STARTING—Any car would be a more convenient, a more comfortable, a safer car to drive with Clutch-Pedal Starting. The "400" is the only car in its price field with this fine feature.

LUGGAGE COMPARTMENT IN EVERY MODEL—Large built-in space for carrying ample luggage and spare tire.

If you like individuality in a car . . . if you like to be ahead of the crowd . . . if you like real luxury with economy . . . the "400" is built for you. See and drive it today.

Built To Stay Built! Every Nash-built car is built the only way I can build a car—the quality way. I have never built a "cheap" car, and never will.

1935 LAFAYETTE—built by Nash—Eight different models in the lowest price field—$580 to $710 f. o. b. factory—lowest priced sedan with trunk in the industry, with only one exception!

$450,000 ROAD FUND SOUGHT FOR GEORGIA

Park Service Applies for Walker County Allotments; Others Loom.

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.
WASHINGTON, May 27.—The national park service has submitted to the Works Progress Administration an application for an allotment of $450,000 for the improvement of certain roads in Walker county, Georgia, Representative Malcolm C. Tarver announced here today.

Of the total amount asked for, it is proposed to use $200,000 for improving the road which runs from Fort Oglethorpe to Rossville, and $250,000 on the Stephens Gap road leading from Chickamauga to Stephens Gap and Glass Mill road.

At the same time Judge Tarver said the national forest service has agreed to make up projects contemplating the purchase of lands on Taylor's Ridge road from Ringgold to Summerville, on the Etowah river above Cartersville and between Dalton and Cartersville, for national forest purposes.

If the projects are approved by the works progress administration, Representative Tarver will bring the matter to the attention of the national forest reservations commission, of which Senator Walter F. George, of Georgia, is a member.

It is proposed to make this newly purchased land a part of Chickamauga National Forest.

Judge Tarver already has had the

A Sip of Wine--Photographer Finds Oasis in Atlanta

Atlanta disciples of the late Omar Khayyam, the gentleman who yearned for "a jug of wine, a book of verse and thou," may now satisfy at least that portion of their craving that applies to wine. So concluded The Constitution's roving photographer when he happened by Ralph's Buffet, on East Fair street, and turned his lens on J. P. Fitzgibbons, clerk at the buffet, as he poured out a portion of the fermented juice for Mrs. Clifford Wood. A survey of wine counters of the city showed that Georgia-made or imported wines may be purchased for 10 to 30 cents a glass and good old port may be had for $2 a bottle.

matter up with F. A. Silcox, forester and chief of the forest service, and is confident that if the works progress administration approves the allotment there will be little difficulty in securing the necessary land.

Last January Mr. Tarver introduced a bill in the house providing for the paving of Stephens Gap road and also the Taylor Ridge road.

"If the works progress administration approves the allotment," he said, "I shall press for early action on my measure."

WOMAN TESTIFIES MAN PAID HER TO BE LASHED

NEW YORK, May 27.—(AP)—A story of being lashed by whips in the hands of Robert Barbour and a woman named "Elizabeth" was told in a courtroom today by Rita Martini, once an actress.

The woman administered most of the whipping, Miss Martini testified, but Barbour, president of a linen thread company and a brother of United States Senator Warren Barbour, of New Jersey, also struck her five times while she screamed with pain.

She is suing Barbour for $100,000 damages.

Barbour denied from the stand he whipped Miss Martini. He admitted she visited his apartment on about September 3, 1932, alleged date of the offense, but testified she merely drank a "couple of cocktails with him and several others."

His face flushed above his 300-pound frame as the plaintiff testified she received money for permitting her body to be whipped on previous visits to the apartment.

LONG WINS RATE CUT IN NEW ORLEANS POWER

BATON ROUGE, La., May 27.—(AP)—Electric rates of the New Orleans Public Service, Inc., to small subscribers were tonight announced ordered reduced by the Louisiana Public Service Commission.

The reduction order was announced after the New Orleans Public Service, Inc., which supplies New Orleans with electric gas and traction service sought readjustment of its finances this afternoon in New Orleans federal court.

Senator Huey P. Long, special counsel for the public service commission, said the order was issued before the court action and would not be affected by it.

The commission ordered 1 cent slashed from the rate for the first 50 kilowatts consumed by residential and small commercial consumers, thereby lowering the existing rate of 7.5 cents for the first 50 kilowatts to 6.5 cents.

P. A. Frye, commission secretary, said the rest of the company's existing rate scale was unchanged.

by the last session of the legislature, is attempting to do the very thing which the supreme court says is unconstitutional, it was pointed out. To help promote a home industry—that of raising grapes—the state has legalized the sale of wine made from Georgia grapes. The supreme court, in the Baldwin-Seelig case, ruled that a state cannot use either taxing or police power to establish an economic barrier against goods from another state.

"It is the established doctrine of this court that a state may not, in any form or under any guise, directly or indirectly burden the prosecution of interstate business," the supreme court says further in the Baldwin-Seelig decision.

Thus, by legalization of Georgia-made wine, the state has thrown open the doors for the importation of wine from California or any other state or country, according to other authorities on constitutional law.

Fight Undecided.

Whether the state will permit importation of wine without a fight is still undecided. In some sections the opinion was expressed that state authorities would countenance wine importation. In others, it was believed that the supreme court of Georgia would be called upon to settle the question.

If importation of wine or grapes for the manufacture of wine is barred, Georgia will be useless for several years at least, according to R. E. Tuttle, regional supervisor of the alcohol tax unit.

Mr. Tuttle pointed out yesterday that grapes are not grown on a commercial scale in Georgia at present and under the ruling of Attorney General Yeomans it will be impossible to make wine out of blackberries, peaches or other fruits.

Added Sugar Barred.

"Mr. Yeomans ruled that sugar could not be added in the manufacture of wine," the alcohol tax unit executive declared. "Laboratory tests by chemists of our department have shown that only grape wine can be made without the addition of sugar. Grapes contain sufficient sugar to insure fermentation, but blackberries, for instance, cannot be made into wine without the addition of sugar. Any attempt to make wine from blackberries without putting in some sugar will find the net result to be a very unpalatable variety of vinegar."

MORGENTHAU TO OFFER $750,000,000 IN NOTES

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(AP)—After a White House conference, the details of which were guarded carefully, Secretary Morgenthau tonight disclosed treasury plans for a three-quarter-billion-dollar refinancing operation in June.

He said an issue of notes would be offered on an exchange basis to holders of two securities soon due for payment—$416,000,000 of 3 per cent notes maturing June 15 and $253,865,000 of 1 5/8 per cent notes maturing August 1.

Since then, at his press conference, Morgenthau denied reports the treasury would borrow $1,000,000,000 of new money in its June 15 financing. Rather, he said, the government will meet its cash needs "from now until the first of July" by weekly sales of short-term bills and occasional additions to the June, 1934 issues of 3 per cent bonds on an "auction bid" basis.

FINAL ACT COMPLETED IN TRANSFER OF SAAR

METZ, France, May 27.—(UP)—The last official act in return of the Saar basin to Germany took place today when the Franco-German mixed commission revising properties along the frontiers completed its work.

The commission fixed special roads and thoroughfares which are to be used by property owners whose lands extend on both sides of the Franco-German border. The German members signed the agreement in an atmosphere of cordiality.

Sea Scout Saves Bather But Her Body Disappears

WINTER HAVEN, Fla., May 27.—(AP)—County authorities tonight were investigating the reported disappearance of the body of a drowned woman from the shore of Lake Cannon here yesterday.

Sea Scout Francis Gill, 17, said the woman was one of a group of bathers who spoke some foreign tongue and broken English. He said he was attracted by a commotion in the party, dived in and recovered the body. He worked several hours attempting to resuscitate the woman, young Gill said, during which time none of the others responded to his pleas to summon help.

Finally, he told a sheriff's deputy, he went himself and when he returned the party, their automobile and the body of the woman had disappeared.

He described the woman as about 35, with light skin, dark hair,

NORRIS SAYS TVA AUDIT WOULD WRECK RATES

Authority Defender Fears McCarl Demand Endangers Power 'Yardstick.'

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(UP)—A controversy between Senator Norris and Comptroller General John R. McCarl over the Tennessee Valley Authority sharpened today as Norris voiced fear that the power rate "yardstick" of the TVA would be wrecked by court injunctions and audits.

The author of the TVA act and McCarl, his former secretary, who urged that the authority be placed under closer supervision, of his general auditing office, today made public an exchange of letters showing their outspoken disagreement over financial affairs of the TVA.

The public power question cropped up in another quarter when the District of Columbia supreme court halted, at least temporarily, federal financing of a municipal power plant at Hominy, Okla.

Public works administration officials said they believed the order, on which a hearing to decide whether it should be permanent was scheduled for June 5, would hold up the TVA allotment only temporarily. Lower court decisions favorable and unfavorable to the administration have been equally divided in 10 similar suits.

McCarl informed Norris that the TVA, as an agency spending public funds, should be checked closely by the comptroller's office.

Of exceptions taken by his auditors to TVA policies, McCarl asserted he had found "a uniform conviction that many exceptions might have been avoided if those acting for the authority had more carefully and wholeheartedly given effect to laws considered by this office applicable to authority transactions."

Meanwhile the house military affairs committee prepared to meet tomorrow to consider what steps to take toward further TVA legislation. The committee voted, 13 to 12, last week to table the Norris bill amending the TVA act, but will review the situation.

NEW RESERVE BOARD URGED BY A. C. MILLER

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(AP)—A reconstructed Federal Reserve Board with a membership of five or seven, all appointive, was recommended today by Adolph C. Miller, veteran board member.

Before the senate committee considering the bill giving control over currency and credit to the board, he suggested radical changes to make the agency "completely independent of influence from the government and banks."

Other modifications he proposed were:

No member of the board should be removable during the term for which he is appointed, except for misbehavior.

Removal of the secretary of the treasury and comptroller of the currency as ex-officio members of the board.

Retirement of board members at 70.

Miller, who previously had disagreed with Governor Marriner S. Eccles, of the board, by saying the powers contained in the bill would have "made a hell of a difference in 1928 and 1929," endorsed the provisions giving the board control over credit, but added:

"Authority should not be conferred on the board for that purpose unless you are prepared to give the board a status of complete independence—one that is completely independent of any improper influence or legally suggested influence on the part of banks or the government."

HOME OF LINDBERGH TO BE RECONDITIONED

LITTLE FALLS, Minn., May 27.—(AP)—Neglected for many years and then stripped of its furniture by souvenir hunters, the boyhood home of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh here is soon to be repaired and refurbished to its condition of 15 years ago when the now world-famous aviator last lived there.

In 1931 the state of Minnesota established the 93-acre tract on which it stands as a state park to be named for the flyer's father, the late Representative Charles Lindbergh, and set aside $5,000 to improve it. Now the Little Falls Lions Club has undertaken the task of restoring the home and its furnishings.

In 1927, following Lindbergh's New York-to-Paris solo flight, crowds jammed the community and virtually stripped the house of all its original furniture.

Quits Under Fire.

MIAMI, Fla., May 27.—(AP)—Suspended Police Chief S. D. McCreary today resigned 10 minutes after the city commission convened to hear numerous charges against him in connection with the conduct of the police department. Among the charges against McCreary, a former Savannah, Ga., loon, reprimand police for making hotel man, were that he failed to make false reports and caused a lack of patrols, enforce Sunday closing of amusements and discipline.

INTANGIBLE RETURNS DEADLINE ON FRIDAY

Low Assessment Agreement for Voluntary Returns To End at That Time.

Many millions of dollars in intangibles still are unreported for taxation, according to tax officials and civic leaders in the Atlanta area who yesterday issued an urgent warning to owners to file the returns immediately.

Friday is the deadline for filing the returns under the agreement entered into by taxing officers in Fulton and DeKalb counties and those who fail to file voluntarily by that time will subject themselves to full taxation at the full market value, plus the tax for years in which they have been unreported.

The low basis agreement remains in force until the taxing offices close for the day Friday but after that a determined drive to get those not returned will be initiated.

Civic leaders sponsoring the movement for voluntary returns asserted yesterday that future development of this section depends on the success of the voluntary movement.

Any drive which placed intangibles on the digest at full market value will be confiscatory, it was asserted and to the distinct disadvantage of the owner.

"Property owners who try to conceal these holdings are inviting trouble and have no one to blame but themselves," a statement pointed out. "Taxing authorities have a law with teeth in it and have conducted investigations from out of the state and know where millions of dollars of unreported intangibles are.

"The agreement made by local authorities is fair and just and deserves the support of owners of stocks and bonds."

JESSE DRAPER URGES MORE U. S. AIR MARKS

An appeal for America to set more records in the air was made yesterday by Jesse Draper, chairman of the Atlanta committee of the National Aeronautic Association.

"We are now within striking distance of first place among the nations in the number of air records held," Draper declared.

France holds 45, the United States second with 41, and Italy trails with 21, while Germany holds 8, Poland 2 and Great Britain 1.

Efforts to bring this country at least 10 more records will be made in the next few weeks, it was announced. Draper asked aviators and manufacturers to attempt more records of very kind to give the United States supremacy in the air.

F. D. R. TO ASK UNION OF TRANSPORT AGENCIES

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(AP)—President Roosevelt today began writing a message to congress recommending unification of all federal agencies dealing with transport.

The transportation message is expected to recommend inclusion in an expanded Interstate Commerce Commission of all agencies dealing with supervision of transportation—land, sea and air.

This probably will be the last legislative recommendation, to go forward to congress at this session.

MUTUAL MEN IN STATE ENROLL 154 IN WEEK

National Officials Attending Georgia Meeting at Biltmore.

Agents of the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company, Newark, N. J., during "Benjamin C. Miller Week," May 13 to 20, wrote the greatest number of insurance applications than in any one week in the company's history, it was announced yesterday at a meeting of Georgia representatives of the firm.

The week's drive was to commemorate the first policy in force in the company. It was issued to Benjamin C. Miller, who lived to mature the policy at the age of 96.

Under leadership of Robert L. Foreman, state agent in Georgia, 154 applications for insurance were submitted, and 48 representatives shared in the result, a volume of more than $500,000 being contributed, it was announced. The leader in Georgia on the basis of number of applications was A. C. Burkhalter, of Towns, who submitted 35. W. H. Cobb, of Americus, was second, and G. P. Wilkinson was third.

BOYS' HIGH ALUMNI HONOR CALDWELL AT DINNER TONIGHT

Members of the Boys' High School Association and other friends of the University of Georgia will entertain at dinner tonight in honor of Dr. Harmon W. Caldwell, 36-year-old alumnus of Boys' High, who recently was made president of the university. The dinner, beginning at 7 o'clock, will be at the Athletic Club.

Dr. Frank K. Boland, president of the alumni association, will be toastmaster at the dinner.

Among the speakers will be Dr. Harvey W. Cox, president of Emory University, where Dr. Caldwell once served; Dr. Clark Howell Jr., representing the board of regents; Dr. J. C. Wardlaw, of the university faculty, and Professor W. F. Dykes, of the North Fulton High school, who taught Dr. Caldwell in his high school days.

Reservations for the dinner are being made through Professor H. O. Smith, principal at Boys' High, and Hatfield Branch Jr., Walnut 7480.

ORDER OF ST. GREGORY CONFERRED ON PAYNE

Prominent Atlanta Lawyer Joins Spalding and Haverly as Catholic Knight

J. Carroll Payne, distinguished Atlanta lawyer, citizen and patron of art and education, Sunday was inducted into the Order of St. Gregory the Great. He is the third knight of this honorary pontifical decoration in this diocese and one of only about 200 in the entire United States.

Others in the diocese are Sir John J. Spalding and Sir J. J. Haverly. The scene in Sacred Heart church Sunday morning as Bishop Keyes bestowed the medal upon Mr. Payne in the sanctuary was one of utmost inspiration and color. Both Sir John J. Spalding and Sir J. J. Haverly were present in their full uniforms as knights, while also in the sanctuary were Monsignor Henry Clark, pastor of St. Anthony's church, and the Rev. Father Emmert.

Monsignor Joseph Croke, rector of the Cathedral of St. Peter and St. Paul, at Savannah, celebrated mass, and the Most Rev. P. H. Dugan, president of Marist College, also took part. The Rev. Father Edward Maguire read the papal brief conferring knighthood upon Mr. Payne, reading it first in Latin and then in English. Bishop Keyes then conferred the medal.

The honor was conferred upon Mr. Payne for his upright life, his charities to the poor, his material assistance and moral encouragement to the young, his high standing as a citizen and his encouragement and material assistance to the cultural life of his community.

The Order of St. Gregory the Great was founded by Gregory XVI on September 1, 1831, and placed by him under the patronage of the pope who was named in honor of the pope.

At the side of the head near the right ear is a dove and in a circle around the image appears in gold letters "S. Gregorius Magnus." On the reverse side is the device "Pro Deo et Principe" and in the center around it, "Gregorius XVI. M. Anno L." The badge is the cross of the order surrounded with silver rays. The ribbon is red with gold borders. The cross of a knight of the division is mounted by a crown of gold oak leaves.

The costume of ceremony is a dress coat of dark green over front and covered on breast and back with broderies in the form of oak leaves. While trousers with silver side stripes, a bi-colored ornamental hat and the knightly sword complete the costume.

NAVAL PACT BETWEEN BRITAIN, HITLER SOUGHT

England To 'Call' Der Fuehrer on Offer To Abolish Submarines.

LONDON, May 27.—(AP)—Great Britain will "call" Adolf Hitler on his offer to abolish submarines, when Anglo-German naval talks open here June 4, well-informed quarters said tonight.

Hitler, in his speech to the reichstag last Tuesday, offered to meet other powers in curbing armaments, even to the scrapping of U-boats, dreaded German weapon during the World War.

Other nations, including the United States, will be informed of the specific limitations which Germany may be willing to accept.

Great Britain is determined that a general naval conference must be held before the end of 1935 in order to fulfill naval treaty obligations. In view of Hitler's projected naval building program Germany's participation as well as Russia's is considered important.

It was believed that the Anglo-German talks and after London will press for such a conference, even if only a preliminary meeting of ambassadors and naval attaches is possible. The signatories to the expiring London naval treaty, the United States, Great Britain, Japan, France and Italy, would be expected to attend.

It was stated authoritatively that British delegates will take full advantage of Hitler's offer to restrict his navy to 35 per cent of Britain's strength and 35 per cent of Britain's by seeking detailed proposals for submission to other powers.

A submarine ban, it was pointed out, would call for heavier concessions by other naval powers than by Britain, as she has less undersea craft than the others. The United States, Japan and France each have an average roughly of more than 50 per cent more submarine tonnage than Britain and Italy also has many more U-boats, although they are smaller.

GERMAN PARTY WINS IN CZECH ELECTION

PRAHA, May 27.—(AP)—Preliminary returns today from Czechoslovakia's provincial diet elections showed the Nazi "Sudetens German" party had repeated its success of the national elections of May 19, obtaining votes in the various provinces twice as strong as the largest Czech party.

In the Bohemian diet, the Germans won 17 seats, compared to the 10 gained by the largest Czech party, of the 3,997,238 votes in the provinces of Bohemia and Moravia, the Sudeten Germans won 891,232, the Czech agrarians 542,070, the Czech social democrats 506,000, the communists 355,000, and various smaller parties the remainder.

3-POINT LAND PLAN URGED BY GEORGIAN

Dr. Jarnigan Advocates Diversified Program to Aid South.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., May 27.—(AP)—A diversified agriculture with livestock and soil building as a foundation would guarantee the economic security of all in the south, Dr. Milton P. Jarnigan told the National Cottonseed Products Association convention today.

A continuation of our one-crop, soil-depleting policy of the past holds no hope for the future for either the rural or the urban population," Dr. Jarnigan, head of the department of animal husbandry at the University of Georgia, told the delegates.

"Of the nearly 455,000,000 of acres in the cotton states," he said, "less than 100,000,000 are needed for intensive cultivation with our present system of agriculture."

"Ultimately, we should use about one-third of our land for cultivation, one-third for permanent pastures and the remaining one-third for forests," Dr. Jarnigan said. The southern farmer should become a great producer of livestock and thus, afford an outlet for nearly 1,000,000 tons of cottonseed meal.

"If our cotton planters could be persuaded to feed just one pound of cottonseed meal per head daily to the 2,155,000 horses and mules in the 10 cotton-growing states, this would mean a daily consumption of 2,155 tons, or an annual consumption of $41,325,000," he said. "At the reasonable price of $30 a ton, this would have a value of $25,240,050."

BROTHER OF U. S. SOLON CHARGED WITH BEATING

NEW YORK, May 27.—(AP)—Rita Martini, former actress, today testified she was beaten with whips until she fainted by Robert Barbour, president of the Linen Thread Company, in his penthouse apartment, in September, 1932.

Miss Martini is suing Barbour for $100,000 damages. The action is before Supreme Court Justice John Walsh.

Miss Martini, a pretty brunette, 25 years old, testified a woman identified only as "Elizabeth," first applied the whip to her and then Barbour struck her five times. She said she did not regain consciousness for some time after the alleged assault, and then was attended by a physician.

GEORGIA IN FOREFRONT OF HOME BUILDING

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(AP)—The greatest urban home building activity in the country during last month was in Georgia, New York, California and Texas, the Federal Home Loan Bank Board reported today.

"The number of new family dwelling units built in April was 15 per cent greater than in March, a gain which compares favorably with the expansion from March to April of 1934," Chairman John H. Fafey, of the board, said.

The monthly data for all cities is based on building permit records from 792 cities of 10,000 or greater population, available through the Department of Labor.

Governor Herbert Lehman, of New York, and Mrs. Lehman, also arrived today for a week's vacation.

NEW TRAIN COACHES TO BE DISPLAYED HERE

Public Invited To Inspect Buffet-Lounge Cars of C. of Ga.

Replenished in silver and gold and boasting of the most luxurious appointments yet known to coach travel in Georgia, two air-conditioned buffet-lounge cars will go into service on the Central of Georgia railway June 1, 1935, between Savannah, Macon and Atlanta on day trains 1 and 2, according to announcement yesterday by Frederick J. Robinson, general passenger agent.

These coaches which are the last word in travel comfort will be on display at the Terminal station for public inspection between the hours of 10 o'clock in the morning and 6 o'clock at night Wednesday and Thursday, May 29 and 30, and will intrigue the public with their convenience, comfort and interior finish. They will be supplied with "conditioned air," the great over-stuffed chairs will make for bodily ease while traveling, and delicious food and refreshments will be served at all hours of the day from the buffet.

The striking feature of this service is that the buffet-lounge car may be occupied by passengers traveling at regular coach rates, with only a nominal seat fare for the space occupied; heretofore passengers desiring the better accommodation of sleeping car seats have been required to underwrite the tariffs to pay a higher train fare than prevailed for coach passengers; in other words, the Central of Georgia has pioneered and has for the first time in the history of railroading in the state brought to coach travel at coach travel fares, a method of transportation which successfully competes with anything that moves.

The cars are equipped with a scientifically planned electric light system, so that reading is a pleasure as well as bridge games or other amusement. Radios in the lounge will give all the best programs en route, and experienced porters will be available for instant service to passengers.

These cars will be operated, leaving Atlanta daily on train No. 2 at 7:25 a. m., C. T., arriving Macon 11:25 a. m., E. T., and Savannah 5:15 p. m., E. T. The same cars leave Savannah on train No. 1 at 7:40 a. m., E. T., arrive Macon 1:05 p. m., and Atlanta 2:45 p. m., C. T., and coach tickets at 1 1/2 cents per mile will be honored in them; the charge for seats will be only $1 between Atlanta and Savannah, 5 cents between Macon and Savannah and 40 cents between Atlanta and Macon. Proportionate fares between points, and these seats may be reserved in advance.

STENOGRAPHER HELD FOR PRACTICING LAW

R. A. Wiggins, legal stenographer, was held to Fulton criminal court yesterday under $300 bond after a hearing before Judge Luther Z. Rosser in which he was charged with performing legal services without a license to practice law.

The warrant was sworn out by A. J. Hartley, president of the recently organized Fulton County Bar Association. Hartley said Wiggins drew a will for him for which he paid a fee of $1.50 and introduced alleged advertising matter in which Wiggins set forth he could perform such services as well as a lawyer and for smaller fees.

The defendant testified the will was actually drawn by a lawyer and his services were merely stenographic. He said the alleged advertising matter had been used by him five years ago and he had discontinued it.

BEER LICENSE SALES HALTED BY YEOMANS

Attorney-General Rules Local Permits Must Come Ahead of State Licenses.

The sale of beer licenses was started and almost immediately halted yesterday when Attorney-General M. J. Yeomans ruled the licenses could not be issued unless the applicant furnished proof he had been licensed by the city or county in which he planned to operate.

Commissioner R. E. Matheson, in charge of the issuance of the licenses, said he would follow the ruling of the attorney-general and the licensing would be held up pending action by local authorities.

The city of Atlanta and a few other municipalities have authorized the sale of beer within their limits but most of these actions, including that in Atlanta, expire July 1. It has not been determined yesterday whether the revenue department would license Atlanta dealers for the remaining month of the beer law here or wait until city council has enacted a new measure which will carry through the balance of 1935.

In his opinion furnished Commissioner Matheson yesterday morning, Judge Yeomans cited section 15-A of the beer law which gives the local governing bodies authority to permit or reject the sale of beer in areas under their jurisdiction. The opinion pointed out that while the law does not specifically prescribe that the local licenses should be obtained first it would work to the disadvantage of the citizen if he was sold a state license and then the local authorities turned him down for application for a permit to do business.

Three licensees had been sold before Judge Yeomans' ruling reached Commissioner Matheson's desk. One of them had been purchased by J. T. Campbell, whose place of business is just outside the city limits of Calhoun in Gordon county. Campbell said that Gordon county voted heavily against the beer act and added he doubted if the county authorities there would permit the sale of the beverage. He said there was a better prospect that the city council of Calhoun would approve the issuance of permits.

So far as is known only one county, Tift, has taken action since the vote two weeks ago. The county board last week authorized the sale of beer in the county outside of incorporated municipalities. No Tift application was received at the capitol Monday.

Ruling on School Books.

Meanwhile the department of law continued to prepare another opinion on the beer act, this one requested by Superintendent of Schools M. D. Collins on the constitutionality of the Rivers clause directing that all funds derived by the state under the law be used for the purchase of free school books for use in the common schools.

A question has arisen as to whether or not the money must go directly to the department of education to use as the school board sees fit or go for the free school books.

During the mulling over of the beer situation, Commissioner Matheson took time out to announce that the beer licensing would not provide any new jobs in his office.

"We are taking care of the licenses with our regular staff," he said. "I'm sorry but we can do nothing for the several thousands of applicants for jobs."

FINANCE COMMITTEE POSTPONES MEETING

Scheduled meeting of the council finance committee for this afternoon was postponed indefinitely yesterday by Councilman Aubrey Millam, chairman, following action of the budget commission earlier in the day in deferring the effort to arrive at a definite estimate of receipts pending the closing of tax books on intangible returns Friday.

Members of the budget group heard a request from police officials for 10 new automobiles for the department and additional clerical aid for the crime reporting bureau. Although sympathetic, they deferred any definite recommendation.

Chief of Police T. O. Sturdivant, Councilman G. Dan Bridges, chairman of the police committee, and Oscar H. Pendley, secretary of the department, presented the police department needs.

HIGH COURT RULINGS DISRUPT AAA DEBATE

Senate Quits Early to Give Study to Effect on Amendments.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(AP)—The supreme court decision on NIRA plunged today into the middle of the senate debate on AAA amendments and threatened to bring about a major rewriting of provisions of the bill.

Midway in his explanation of the bill, Senator Smith, democrat, South Carolina, chairman of the agriculture committee and sponsor of the bill, found himself harried by a dozen senators—both republicans and dem-

WIPE EXCESSIVE ACIDITY OUT OF YOUR STOMACH!

You must do it to revive the activity of the gastric fluids that are so vitally important to digest your food and prevent gas and acid indigestion.

Excessive acidity in the stomach destroys the activity of the gastric fluids which are so essential for the digestion of food. That causes heartburn, sick headaches, bloating, drowsiness, nausea from gas and acid indigestion.

The gastric fluids MUST be made active again. You must FIRST wipe out the excessive acidity that has destroyed them.

Drink some water with a teaspoonful of Fitch's Acid Remover every day, and especially before going to sleep. It is very pleasant. Does not upset you, and does not purge your bowels. Simply wipes out the excessive acidity, liquefies the undigested food, soothes the irritated stomach, so that the natural gastric fluids can act again. Then you will have a good appetite, no gas after you eat, and feel like a healthy person should.

WIPE OUT THE EXCESSIVE ACIDITY IN YOUR STOMACH BEFORE IT GETS INTO YOUR BOWELS. Acidity causes much constipation. Be sure to get Fitch's, the excessive acid destroyer, and the gastric fluid reviver. Sold at all drug stores. It is not a purgative. Contains no sugar.

hearing yesterday to receive the supreme court's decision, holding the National Recovery Act was invalid, but proceeded with the case at hand in order to complete the record.

The hearing was one charging discrimination against union workers of the C. B. Atkin Furniture Company, of Knoxville, Tenn., and alleged crats, with suggestions to recommit the measure.

From across the capital, Chairman Jones, democrat, Texas, of the house agriculture committee, commented that the court's decision defining interstate commerce "vitality affects the licensing provisions of this bill."

It was the bill Jones' committee had drawn that the senate took under consideration. Smith said it curbed the power of the secretary far more than was provided in the bill his own committee had reported out and that he considered it "more satisfactory."

Accepting a suggestion of Senator Borah, republican, Idaho, the senate adjourned early in the afternoon to permit a study of the court decision as it might affect the AAA amendments.

The adjournment served to displace AAA on the calendar but Senator Robinson, majority leader, said he was not yet convinced it was necessary to recommit the bill. He said probably it would be again taken up tomorrow after the calendar.

Asked whether he considered the court's decision had affected AAA, the Arkansas senator said:

"I haven't seen yet where it does."

Downtown, Secretary Wallace and the high command of AAA had no comment, pending study of the court's decision.

In another sphere of AAA effort that agency proceeded with its wheat referendum to decide whether the marketing agreement program should be continued. But this, like much else of the administration's program, was beset by uncertainty of the high court decision.

No one was immediately prepared to say what the result might be if anti-trust laws were to be vigorously prosecuted.

DECISION AFFECTS
420,000 WORKERS
IN STATE FIRMS

hearing yesterday to receive the supreme court's decision, holding the National Recovery Act was invalid, but proceeded with the case at hand in order to complete the record.

The hearing was one charging discrimination against union workers of the C. B. Atkin Furniture Company, of Knoxville, Tenn., and alleged violation of collective bargaining provisions of the NIRA.

Marion Smith, chairman of the labor board, said he could not state definitely that the high court's ruling ended the usefulness of the labor boards, but spokesmen for the company at yesterday's hearing interpreted the decision to mean the labor boards were swept aside along with regulation of hours and wages.

Labor leaders attending the hearing said the supreme court's decision probably would have the effect of hastening action on the Wagner labor bill now before congress.

15,000 Georgia Firms Affected.

Some 420,000 workers employed by 15,000 firms are affected by the ruling, according to Joseph P. McGrath, secretary of the Georgia Manufacturers' Association.

Mr. McGrath expressed the opinion that in Georgia, at least, there would be no change either in the number of working hours or in wages and likewise stated his belief many workers would actually benefit.

"There are about 420,000 workers employed by 15,000 firms affected by the supreme court decision," Mr. McGrath said last night. "Except in scattered instances, I do not believe they will be compelled to work longer hours or to accept salary reductions."

Benefit to Some.

"On the other hand, abandonment of the code feature of the NIRA will be a boon to some workers. I refer to those mechanics who are more likely to be paid according to their ability instead of on a code scale."

"Manufacturers of Georgia and the nation have adjusted their plants to the code basis of work hours and it would be impractical for them to make changes. For that reason, I believe the existing scale of hours will continue."

"A large majority of manufacturers paid above the scale of wages set as a minimum by the NIRA. Inasmuch as those manufacturers did not reduce wages to the minimum allowed by the NIRA when the codes were in force and they could legally do so, it does not seem logical they would order wage reductions now."

Local Officials Silent.

Officials in the regional offices of the NIRA here refused to discuss the supreme court decision saying any and all comment on the subject would come from NIRA headquarters in Washington.

Chairman W. E. Wilburn, of the state highway board, would not comment on the court's decision.

The highway board requires contractors to pay the prevailing wage in the community where their jobs are done," the board chairman said.

"On federal-aid jobs we follow the regulations of the Bureau of Public Roads. It is federal money and we spend it as the federal government desires. We will wait orders on federal-aid projects."

The board chairman said the new highway letting, scheduled for the middle of June, would have a number of federal-aid projects included in it.

The Whitley case was the most outstanding alleged violation of the NIRA in Georgia.

The injunction which was handed down by a three-judge district court, which included Circuit Judge Samuel H. Sibbey, District Judge Underwood and District Judge William I. Grubb, of Birmingham, was granted when the injunction was granted by Judge Whitley was paying less than the NIRA scale on two highway projects, one in Lamar county and another in McDuffie and Wilkes counties. After the injunction was granted, the highway board took over the contracts and finished the projects itself.

The criminal cases were returned at Macon on information filed by District Attorney T. H. Davis. They were set for trial last fall but postponed several times, waiting for the decision handed down yesterday.

GEORGIA MANUFACTURERS WILL RETAIN SOME OF CODE

"Georgia manufacturers will retain the important phases of the NIRA in the majority of cases," T. M. Forbes, secretary of the Cotton Manufacturers' Association of Georgia, declared last night.

"I am sure that most mill owners will prohibit child labor and will continue the minimum wage and maximum hour schedules under which they have been operating," he said.

Forbes had not had time to communicate with national code authorities and said he was unable to tell of the general attitude of Georgia mill men, except that he was certain most of them will retain the 40-hour week, prohibition of child labor, minimum wages, and maximum machine hours.

"Of course, action here will depend largely on what other manufacturers do," Forbes asserted. "Some mills will continue under code provisions in so far as competition will allow them."

formed Judge Underwood that his lengthy confinement would be injurious to his health and might result in his death. When brought from the DeKalb county jail to the old post-office building shortly before 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, however, he appeared in good health and had lost none of his optimism.

Trial of Lee, John T. Ingram, secretary-treasurer of American Bond & Share, and William S. Lindbergh, a salesman for the corporation, is tentatively scheduled to begin in the federal court June 12.

Lee, following his release yesterday, declined to discuss the case, except to say that he would, in all probability, handle his own defense and that he was confident of acquittal.

Meanwhile, speculation centered around the mission of F. Rodney Titcomb, friend of the Weverhaeuser family, who was seen entering the home today, carrying a brief case, only to leave shortly thereafter without it.

He has been rumored a possible "contact man."

It was learned that the first effort of the parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Weverhaeuser, to get in touch with the kidnappers had failed.

The ad was signed "Percy Minnie," the code specified for the kidnappers.

Showboat To Present Fan Dancer To Alaskan Eskimos This Summer

SEATTLE, May 27.—(AP)—The Eskimos are going to learn about the fan dance this summer.

A showboat, carrying a fan dancer, certain and a motion picture projection machine, will leave here in a few weeks for Alaskan waters.

"Up in the north, in the smaller Indian and Eskimo villages, there is no entertainment at all but an occasional accordion, maybe a fiddle, and the native dances and songs," said Gordon Bartlett, impresario.

"Now for the first time they'll have a showboat—none of this old Mississippi stuff, but vaudeville and movies as we have in the states—they'll be a revelation to the natives."

"I am an old-time Alaskan myself, so I know they are starved for entertainment in the inaccessible villages. Our little boat will be able to put in almost anywhere along the coast, and we can teach fan dancing to any Eskimo."

life, concentrated law enforcement agencies, headed by picked Department of Justice agents, bowed to the wishes of the fabulously wealthy family in giving the kidnappers every chance to return him unharmed.

Threats against the boy's life, if the ransom is not paid soon, were contained in the ransom note—a note which investigators said bore a marked similarity to those sent by the kidnaper of Baby Charles Augustus Lindbergh Jr.

Indicating the child had been seized as he was taking a short cut home from school shortly before noon last Friday, a handkerchief bearing the initial "G" was found today on a path near the Annie Wright Seminary.

It was hailed as pointing to the first clues in the kidnapping by persons close to the distracted parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Weverhaeuser.

Marking similarities in the ransom note and those sent Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh, it was pointed out the "egoist," who signed the Weverhaeuser letter, demanded the $200,000 in gold bills—not gold certificates such as figured in the apprehension of Bruno Richard Hauptmann, Lindbergh kidnaper.

Further, in both cases, the parents were warned under penalty of violence to the victim against calling in police or notifying the press although it was emphasized the kidnappers did not intend to do any harm hastily.

20 WOMEN TAKE FIELD
IN ZIONIST FUND DRIVE

Twenty women will take the field today to aid in gathering contributions to the Palestine Redemption Fund in campaign now in progress.

Leaders in the drive announced last night at a workers' meeting held at the Henry Grady Hotel that the quota of $4,000 Atlanta will be donated by June 9, when Morris Rothenberg, of New York, president of the Zionist Organization of America, will be here to receive it.

A victory banquet will be held on that date at the Shrine mosque.

Women workers are Mesdames Oscar Bartlett, Ralph L. Willner, Sam Epstein, Mr. Rich, J. Jacobs, Victor Book, Herbert Saul, Harry Pfeffer, H. Weinstein, B. Diamond, A. Scroth, Hyman Bergman, Travis, L. Levin, J. Toles, B. Cohen, Sam Goldberg, Harry Epstein, Sam Levy and J. H. Hellman. Rabbi Harry H. Epstein, of the Ahavath Achim congregation, chairman of the men's division, will also direct the women's division.

HESTER WITHERS WINS
SCOTT CUP FOR ACTING

Miss Hester Ann Withers, of Waynesville, N. C., senior student at Agnes Scott College, was awarded a silver loving cup for the best acting of the year last night following the Blackfriars Dramatic Club's offering of "Chophoroe" by Aeschylus.

Miss Withers, an outstanding student at the school, is president of the Blackfriars and has played important roles in every drama given at the college the past year. Judges were Mrs. J. C. Masses, Mrs. Edgar Neely and Mrs. H. S. Alden, who declared her work had been best.

Miss Vera Frances Pruet, of Opelika, Ala., and Jimmy Jepson, the latter an honorary member of the club, received honorable mention.

The Greek play presented last night was directed by Frances K. Gooch, professor of spoken English at Agnes Scott. Claude S. Bennett, Atlanta jeweler, gave the loving cup.

U. S. C. OF C. ASSAILED BY SECRETARY ICKES

Attacks of Body on New Deal Motivated by Silas Strawn, Interior Official Charges.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 27.—(AP)—Assailing the United States Chamber of Commerce as a "convenient vehicle for the operations of that business oligarchy which has been generally denominated 'Wall Street,'" Secretary of the Interior Harold I. Ickes today answered that body's criticism of the administration with the assertion it was motivated by Silas Strawn, a "partisan republican."

Ickes made his attack on the United States Chamber of Commerce in an address to the Birmingham Chamber of Commerce.

Opening quickly with the opinion "the attack by the United States Chamber of Commerce on the president and his policies was both ill advised and in bad temper," Ickes said "no political party longing for a return to power has ever viewed with greater alarm . . . than did the self-appointed spokesmen of the United States Chamber of Commerce."

Wall of Agony.

"A veritable wall of agony went up from the clique that assumes to speak for the chamber. Everything was wrong. There wasn't anything that the Roosevelt administration had done or was doing, that these braggarts of big business could ever damn with faint praise."

Warning to his subject, Ickes asserted "the entrenched group" made the chamber "serve as a ventriloquist's dummy seemingly voicing the views of the business interests with respect to the administration."

When congress began to tire of the importunities of the high-powered lobbyists of this faction of big business that infested the capitol, it was natural that the interests these lobbyists represented should undertake to convert the United States Chamber of Commerce into a Trojan horse within whose capacious interior could be hidden those very lobbyists whose open activities congress would no longer tolerate.

turned alive. It appeared the best thing to hope for was quick death."

But today, happy over the commutation, she said she planned to continue helping the kidnappers.

"I believe I have done all I could for Walter McGee," whose brother, George, another of the kidnappers, is serving a life sentence in state penitentiary here, Miss McElroy said.

Plans to "get a job" for Clarence Click, third member of the gang who is serving eight years, when he is freed, Clarence Stevens, a fourth kidnaper, is still at large.

Giving his decision, Governor Park said he was "not convinced that the hanging of this man would prevent kidnapping any more than that the hanging of a murderer will prevent further murders."

He added he was convinced that McGee "received a sentence which he would not have received under normal conditions of a calm state of public mind."

COURT SLAPS F. D. R. FOR FIRING HUMPHREY

Decision Holds President Can't Oust Commissioners Without Cause.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(AP)—In a direct slap at President Roosevelt's removal from the Trade Commission of the late William E. Humphrey, the supreme court ruled today that officials of legislative or judicial federal agencies do not hold office at the pleasure of the president.

The court laid down certain limits within which a president may discharge officials with whom he disagrees and held the Humphrey case was not within those boundaries. It observed that while a president might discharge postmasters and certain other executive employees, he lacked constitutional power to put out of office officials of a legislative or judicial agency except for causes prescribed by congress for their removal.

"We think it plain under the constitution," the court added, "that the power of removal is not possessed by the president in respect of officers of the character of those just named."

"Coercive Influence." The justices of the high court said the power of dismissal claimed for the president in the Humphrey case was one of "coercive influence and threats" and not a power of removal, which is not only wholly disconnected from the executive department, but which was created by congress as a means of carrying into operation legislative and judicial powers, and as an agency of the legislative and judicial departments.

By its ruling, unanimous, except that Justice McLean dissented, the court held that the Humphrey case was not within the power of removal, which is not only wholly disconnected from the executive department, but which was created by congress as a means of carrying into operation legislative and judicial powers, and as an agency of the legislative and judicial departments.

The president wrote him again that their minds did not go along together either on policies or administration of the Trade Commission. When Humphrey refused to resign, the president informed him orally he was "heretofore removed" from office.

The court recited the correspondence and added Humphrey never acquiesced in the action. It concluded that congress, having laid down certain specific causes for which members might be removed from the commission, did not intend they be removed except for those causes.

Body Should Be Free. The Trade Commission law listed inefficiency, neglect of duty and larceny in office as causes for removal.

The language of the act creating the commission, the court said, and its general purposes combined to demonstrate "the congressional intent to create a body of experts who shall gain experience by length of service, a body which shall be independent of executive authority, except in its selection, and free to exercise its judgment without the leave or hindrance of any other official of the government."

Other officers elected were: Rev. James J. Reilly, S. M., Brunswick, state chaplain; James R. Mulhern, Augusta, state secretary; John J. McCreary, Macon, state advocate; James B. McDonald, Savannah, state treasurer; and Leo A. Rivers, Columbus, state warden.

L. C. Kunze, of Columbus, retiring state deputy, was named a member of the state council for the supreme convention.

Resolutions were adopted thanking Governor Talmadge for disapproving the sterilization bill passed by the last legislature and for approving the proposal to make Columbus Day a legal holiday in Georgia.

MURDER TRIAL DEFENSE ATTACKS TIME THEORY

LAUREL, Miss., May 27.—(AP)—As taking of testimony began in Jones county circuit court today in a trial for murder of W. M. Carter, 67-year-old clubman and business executive, defense attorneys obviously sought to "move up" the time of the state's theory as to when Mrs. Daisy Keeton was slain, and her body dismembered.

At the trial of the dead woman's daughter, Guida Keeton, 33, in February, the prosecution fixed the time of the slaying between the hours of 9 o'clock Saturday night, January 19, and the following morning.

Examination of six witnesses by the state this afternoon in a short session saw the prosecution attempting to prove little more than the corpus delicti, concerning the finding of the severed legs of the missing widow, for whose slaying her daughter has already been convicted of murder and sentenced to life imprisonment.

FLETCHER PROPOSES U. S. MORTGAGE BANK

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(AP)—Senator Fletcher, democrat, Florida, chairman of the senate banking committee, today proposed establishment of a federal mortgage bank to redress mortgage loans as a means of stimulating the flow of private credit for mortgage loans.

Fletcher introduced a bill to establish the bank and setting up procedure for its operation but said he would not try to hold hearings on it this session. He said, however, he wanted to start the measure and hoped to take it up in January.

The bill would authorize the bank to come into existence when $100,000,000 of private capital had been pledged. It would be authorized to lend money on mortgages or buy mortgages from persons, banks or corporations which had been common stockholders of the bank for six months and were engaged in making real mortgages.

Indian Draws Pictures With Table Salt

C. R. CHURCHILL.

ROTUND OFFICERS TABOO AS EXERCISE BEGINS FOR POLICE

Atlanta is to have no more big, fat cops. The day of the rotund policeman is past and the style in policemen now runs to tall, slender, well-proportioned athletic gentlemen.

Chief of Police T. O. Sturdivant yesterday issued orders that all policemen under 50 will take daily exercise in the police gymnasium which is to open in the new station house for the first time today.

Some of Atlanta's most noted landmarks, barrel-like men in the uniform of the city police, will disappear from the scene in a short while, because pounds and pounds of that surplus avoidpoids is going to roll down the gymnasium gutter in the form of perspiration.

The chief says every man will exercise regularly every day, and absences will be required to make up the time they miss. He is intending to have one of the finest forces, physically, in the country; therefore every officer will work out daily in the gym to strengthen his muscles and to lose cumbersome fat.

With women following the plump Mae West precedent, Chief Sturdivant calls for the opposite in his men. He wants them slim like Gary Cooper. The Atlanta police department is going in for reducing—in a big way, necessarily.

Churchill is an Osage Indian. His tribal name is Wah Ha Naka, which means Little Climbing Bear. He learned the novel method of picture making as a boy in Oklahoma among the Osages by making pictures in sand. Among the Osages sand pictures are an important part of their religious ritual.

He does seven pictures a day of all kinds—landscapes, portraits and current events. He has perfected a secret method of preserving pictures he wants. The method consists, in part, of annealing and spraying after which the picture is permanently fixed and impervious to fire or water.

Churchill does not confine his picture making materials to salt and sand. He works in oil, crayon and pen and ink. He also models in clay.

As Little Climbing Bear, Churchill learned his art from his father who now, painting under the name of Charles Verno, has become widely known as a portrait painter in England.

Two scholarships in art were offered to Georgia students yesterday by the Richmond School of Art, a division of William and May College. The membership committee of awards, composed of local people, and other details of the event will be announced later.

Graduating exercises of the University school will be held tonight at the auditorium of the Atlanta Woman's Club. The presentation of diplomas and awards will be preceded by a literary address by Dr. Ellis A. Fuller, pastor of the First Baptist church.

A. M. (Lonnie) Smith, deputy clerk of Fulton superior court, is at Emory University hospital, where he was taken Saturday from his home. His condition was said not to be serious.

Trial of James A. Browning and Hugh Lynch on charges of assault with intent to rob Mrs. Fred L. Walker, cashier at Base Hospital 45, was postponed indefinitely yesterday in Fulton superior court. Several cases against A. T. Jean, alias Frances Nunnally Napier, of Decatur, daughter of Mrs. George N. Napier, yesterday was named by Governor Talmadge to represent the state of Georgia at the annual Rhododendron festival June 10-15 at Asheville, Miss. Napier's father, the late George M. Napier, was attorney-general of the state for a number of years.

Comptroller-General William B. Harrison announced yesterday fuel oil taxes for April totaled $1,284,071. He added the total for the first five months of this year was $539,245 more than the total for the first five months of 1934.

Attorneys for Leander Smith, under sentence to be executed for murder in Chatham county, yesterday petitioned the supreme court for a rehearing on Smith's case. The high court last week handed down an evenly divided opinion affirming Smith's sentence, the verdict being upheld by operation of law. Smith, condemned for the death of Freeman Boykin, is sentenced to die July 9.

Dr. John P. Kennedy, city health officer, yesterday unfolded a plan for a crew of 40 men to launch a campaign to prevent a recurrence of mosquitoes this year. He asserted that carriers of yellow fever and dengue fever germs have been found in the vicinity of the city and that the department will concentrate its efforts to prevent breeding of the pests.

Otis Dell, negro, who attacked Patrolman Tom Glover last week when the officer arrested him for disorderly conduct, was bound over under $300 bond for assault and battery yesterday in recorder's court.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Brooks, of 1216 Barnes street, N. W., were injured yesterday morning when their car struck a telephone pole on Hemphill avenue near the Southern railroad crossing. Brooks was admitted to Grady hospital for treatment of a possible fracture of the leg but Mrs. Brooks was only slightly cut and bruised.

Thirty-one gallons of whisky were found by police in an abandoned car yesterday morning after the machine had been involved in an accident. The liquor-laden automobile collided with the machine of A. A. Stephens, of 1885 Langston street, at Central and Georgia avenues. The driver jumped out and escaped in a second car, which appeared to be following him. Police said passers-by took a number of gallons of whisky away before they arrived.

OSAGE WILL EXECUTE TABLE SALT PICTURES

Will Demonstrate Art at Rogers Stores Here.

Take a carton of ordinary table salt, a bread board from the kitchen and an old piece of velvet. Mix them all together and you have a fine picture for the living room.

That is, you would have a fine picture if you had the talent for the sort of thing that C. R. Churchill, Los Angeles, Cal., has. Churchill, a representative of the International Salt Company, makes pictures out of ordinary table salt in less than five minutes.

Atlantans will have an opportunity to see the remarkable demonstration today and tomorrow at the Rogers store at 3071 Peachtree road and at the Rogers store at Peachtree and Tenth streets Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

RHODES EXECUTIVES REPORT TRADE GAIN

Furniture Store Managers Optimistic on Southern Business Outlook.

More than 50 Rhodes furniture executives representing 28 stores in the south yesterday at the opening session of the three-day managers' conference being held in Atlanta reported the best business and brightest prospects for further increases of any year since 1929.

The executives, in session at the headquarters of the A. G. Rhodes & Son in the Rhodes building, were enthusiastic in their expressions of confidence and maintained that current business substantiated their claims.

Announcement of the promotion of William H. Monk Jr., from the post of manager of the Rhodes-Fitch-Collins store in Jacksonville to the important post of general sales and promotion manager for the entire group of stores with headquarters in Atlanta, was made at the opening session. Byron C. Crawford was named to succeed Mr. Monk.

A. G. Rhodes & Son was established in Atlanta by the late A. G. Rhodes in 1872 and has grown steadily through the years under the leadership of three generations of the Rhodes family. It now is one of the largest furniture retailing organizations in America and recently has opened new stores at Gainesville, West Point and Griffin, Ga., and Palatka and West Palm Beach, Fla., and Burlington, N. C.

Wit Plays Big Part in Debate, Emory Team Learns in England

By ROBERT WIGGINS.

Special Constitution Correspondent.

OXFORD, Eng., May 27.—In the historic debating hall of the Oxford Union Society, a hall haunted by the ghosts of William Gladstone and other great men of English history, the debating team of Emory University played a "return game." Emory has been debating Oxford teams on the home campus for nine years.

It was a debate with Oxford rather than against Oxford. Robert Elliott, John A. Griffin and the writer were supported by an Oxford student in proposing the motion. The members of the other team were supported by a former president of the union who is now an official of the British Broadcasting Corporation. The subject was: "Resolved, that the British Broadcasting Corporation is a greater menace to freedom of thought and economic emancipation than the public press."

An Irish youth who opposed the members of the Emory team, declared in his opening remarks that he was glad to welcome the members of the team from a country that is ruled, policed and robbed by Irishmen. Elliott, in replying, declared that America is efficiently policed by nobody, ruled by a committee in Washington called the "brain trust," and robbed by everybody to whom the least money in the world war. The Oxonians cheered the American reply.

Wit Scores. The members of the Emory team discovered the condition they found at Cambridge in a degree, is more pronounced at Oxford; namely, the place that wit has in debating. The object of the speaker at Oxford seems to be to entertain the audience rather than to persuade the audience to think as he thinks. Apparently the members of the Union society regard as serious debating as inferior, taking the attitude that nothing that one says will have any effect in changing anyone's way of thinking.

At the same time the Oxford audience prefers that a man warm to the subject at all. One can get away with anything if it is said with a smile.

Maiden Speeches. Following the speeches of the members of the Emory team and the Oxonians who were scheduled to speak, the president of the Union called on speakers from the floor. These speeches lasted until late. It is at this time when most of the audience has departed that young undergraduates make their maiden speeches.

The speaker walks to the dispatch box on the secretary's desk, addresses the chair, "Mr. President, Sir," and continues to make his speech. The seats in the hall are arranged as in parliament; the procedure follows the parliamentary form also.

Tellers are appointed at the beginning of the debate and they record the number of members passing through their door—the "aye" or the "no" door.

HOLMES INSTITUTE GRADUATION TONIGHT

Holmes Institute twentieth commencement exercises will be held in Fort Street M. E. church, corner Broadway and Fort streets, tonight at 8:30 o'clock.

The institute, according to the Rev. B. R. Holmes, president and founder, is closing one of the most successful terms in its history. Every student who will receive a diploma will also receive a certificate graduating from some course in the industrial department, which includes domestic science, model housekeeping and automobile operating and repairing.

The commencement address will be delivered by Dr. D. H. Starnes, regional director of the American Bible Society of New York. Rev. C. L. Johnson, pastor of Fort Street M. E. church, will deliver the closing message to the students. Music will be presented by the Glee Club and quartet. The closing remarks will be made by President B. R. Holmes.

26 NURSES GRADUATE FROM GRADY TONIGHT

Twenty-six members of the 1935 graduating class of the school of nursing at Grady hospital will receive their diplomas at exercises to be held at 8 o'clock tonight at the Wesley Memorial church.

The address to the class will be made by Dr. Raymond R. Paty, dean of men at Emory University. Other addresses will be made by Mayor Key Arthur J. Harris, vice chairman of the board of trustees; Superintendent J. B. Franklin and Dr. W. A. Smith, president of the hospital staff. The Wesley Memorial choir will sing.

OGLETHORPE ALUMNI HEADED BY L. L. PERRY

L. L. Perry, of College Park, has been elected president of the Oglethorpe National Alumni Association. It was announced yesterday following the first annual meeting on the university campus.

Carl Sutherland, of Atlanta, was named first vice president, while Sam Gelband, of New York, and John Patrick, of Atlanta, were elected second and third vice presidents, respectively. C. C. Mason, Ed Davis, Sidney Holderness, Sarah Lee Hogan, Warren Maddox and Dr. L. N. Turk were chosen members of the executive committee. A secretary and treasurer will be named soon. Plans for a national home-coming next year are being made.

TURKEY SEEKS FUNDS TO BUY AIRPLANES

ANKARA, Turkey, May 27.—(AP)—A solicitation of gifts from the public was begun today throughout Turkey to bolster up a government fund for 500 airplanes for national defense.

It was understood that the government plans to buy the machines from soviet Russia, later, perhaps, establishing its own factory with soviet technical assistance.

$1,000 Bill Pays Fine Of Liquor Possessor

A fine of $1,000, paid with a single crisp bill, was imposed in Fulton criminal court yesterday by Judge Jesse M. Wood, who found W. G. Spear guilty of possessing liquor.

Spear and four others were arrested by the solicitor-general's raiding squad when they found 5.448 pints, 480 half-pints and 36 quarts of legal liquors and wines in a Whitehall street warehouse adjoining a beer distributing agency. Cases against the other four defendants were put on the dead docket.

In passing sentence on Spear, who was given the alternative of 12 months on the chain gang, Judge Wood remarked that beer dealers should be satisfied with the privilege of selling the brew.

8 CHEVROLET CHIEFS TO HEAD CONFERENCE

Executives Will Meet With Entire Regional Staff Here Thursday.

Eight executives of the Chevrolet Motor Company from the Detroit headquarters, on a 3,000-mile tour through the eastern, Atlantic coast and southeastern areas, will be in Atlanta Thursday to meet with L. S. Costley, manager of the southeastern region, and his entire regional staff.

The executive group is headed by H. B. Hatch, assistant general sales manager in charge of the eastern half of the United States. With him will be C. P. Fisk, advertising manager; W. E. Fish, truck sales manager; C. W. Wood, national service director; W. J. Thompson, assistant parts and accessories merchandising manager; E. J. Hogan, manager business management department; F. S. Black, assistant in sales promotion department; and H. J. MacPeak, assistant in sales promotion department.

This group of executives, by contact with the regional managers and their staffs, seek to carry direct to the regions, and through them to the zones and then to every dealership in the country, a comprehensive plan for the intensive merchandising of Chevrolet cars and trucks for the remainder of the year. The company emphasizes especially the sales potential of the second half of 1935, since it demonstrated last year that the last six months can be made a period of high sales records. In 1934, the company achieved the feat, unprecedented in the industry, of doing more business in the second half of the year than in the first half.

The entire day here will be taken up with a meeting at the Atlanta Athletic Club with the various company representatives and a luncheon. Following the meeting there will be a special dinner program for the regional staff.

ANNUAL BANQUET OF BAPTIST GROUP HONORS PRESIDENT

The annual banquet of the Atlanta Baptist Training Union Association will be given at Rich's tea room tonight. The dinner will be in honor of the association's retiring president, Arthur O. Hayes. Letters of congratulation for the association's work from President Roosevelt and Senator Richard B. Russell Jr. will be read.

Grady A. Lee will be toastmaster. The Rev. Hoke Shirley will be principal speaker while short talks will be made by Alderman I. Gloer Halley, representing Mayor Key, and Edwin S. Preston, representing the Baptist board.

It will be known as the "president's dinner" and the following "presidents" will be the attendees: Rev. T. F. Callaway, of Thomasville, president of Georgia Baptist convention; Dr. T. Baron Gibson, of Canton, president of Georgia Baptist Training Union; M. L. Brittain, president, Georgia Tech; George M. Sparks, president of Georgia Evening School of Commerce; Graham Clarke, president of the Young People's Commission of Atlanta; James Thompson, president, Atlanta Methodist Young People; Miss Isabelle McCain, president of Atlanta Presbyterian Christian Endeavor.

MORE ATLANTANS SIGN LIQUOR STORE PAPER

More than 1,000 Atlantans yesterday had signed the supplementary petition to the original one for the C. McCutcheon, second ward councilman, are pushing in an effort to force city council at its June 3 meeting to call a referendum on the proposal to empower the mayor to operate a series of municipal liquor dispensaries.

The mayor was gratified at the apparent success of the undertaking, but warned that he wants 10,000 names ready for submission to council at its next session, and asserted that means more than 1,000 new names a day.

The required number of Atlantans already have signed the original and legal petition at the city hall but council, after an opinion from City Attorney Jack C. Savage that it was not mandatory to set an election on the petition, declined to act on the matter.

Key and McCutcheon want the additional 10,000 names in order that council may be "made to realize that the citizens of this city mean business about this matter."

Constitution Insurance Policy Protects for Ten Cents a Month

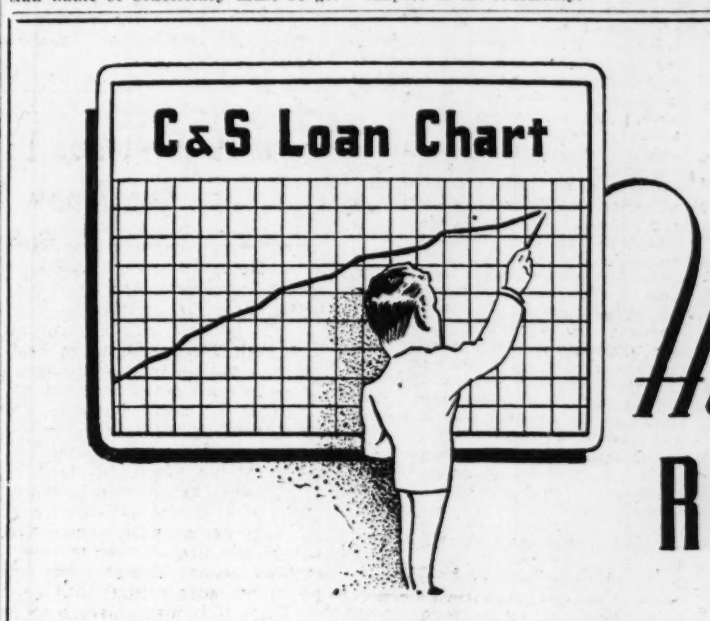

Are you protected against the inevitable wave of week-end accidents that will write a story of death and suffering in nearly every morning's Constitution?

Are you protected against travel and pedestrian accidents? If not, do you know of any reason why you should not be, and also your family, at the small cost of only 10 cents per month per policy?

The insurance offered by The Atlanta Constitution is issued by the North American Accident Insurance Company of Chicago, Ill., which company has already paid Atlanta Constitution subscribers over $200,000. The insurance is offered to subscribers of the daily and Sunday Constitution and immediate dependent members of the subscriber's family between the ages of 16 and 69 on the one subscription going into the home at a small registration fee of 20 cents with application and 10 cents per month thereafter in addition to the subscription price, or $1 each per policy per year in advance to subscribers who live in Atlanta and Atlanta suburbs where they have a carrier delivery. Out-of-town subscribers can have this insurance by paying $1 per policy per year in advance.

This insurance offered through The Atlanta Constitution provides for the payment of sums ranging downward from $10,000 for travel, $1,000 for auto and pedestrian deaths resulting from certain specified accidents, heavy sums for permanent injuries, and $10 weekly indemnity for total disability resulting from accidents set forth in the policy, which is at the rate of $43.33 per month.

In sending application for insurance, the applicant must state name in full, give age and occupation, and if beneficiary is desired the full Christian name of beneficiary must be given.

THE space which this message occupies costs money, and a good bank does not spend money foolishly. It would be foolish to spend money on an empty gesture. Therefore you can be sure that this message means exactly what it says when it states:

The Citizens & Southern National Bank through any of its offices, invites all business men interested in borrowing money, to present their requests to the loan officers of the bank. If your need is within the scope of sound banking, the Citizens & Southern will make the loan.

Our bank has more money loaned out than any other bank in the State of Georgia. In the first 65 days of 1935, our loans increased more than one million dollars. During 1934 our loans increased nearly two and a half million dollars.

Here is factual evidence that our bank is prepared to fulfill one of its great basic functions—the making of sound commercial loans for the development of sound business.

ly centralized government. We must consider the provisions here in question in the light of this distinction. The question of chief importance relates to the provisions of the code as to the hours and wages of those employed in defendants' slaughterhouse markets. It is plain that these requirements are imposed in order to govern the details of defendants' management of their local business. The persons employed in slaughtering and selling in local trade are not employed in interstate commerce. Their hours and wages have no direct relation to interstate commerce. The question of how many hours these employees should work and what they should be paid differs in no essential respect from similar questions in other local businesses which handle commodities brought into a state and there dealt in as a part of its internal commerce. This appears from an examination of the considerations urged by the government with respect to conditions in the poultry trade. Thus, the government argues that hours and wages affect prices; that slaughter houses sell at small margins above operating costs; that labor represents 50 to 60 per cent of these costs; that a slaughter house operator paying lower wages or reducing his cost by exacting long hours of work, translates his saving into lower prices; that this results in demands for a cheaper grade of goods; and that the cutting of prices brings about a demoralization of the price structure. Similar conditions may be adduced in relation to other businesses.

OPINION ON RIGHT TO DETERMINE WAGES.

The argument of the government proves too much. If the federal government may determine the wages and hours of employees in the internal commerce of a state, because of their relation to cost and prices and their indirect effect upon interstate commerce, it would seem that a similar control might be exerted over other elements of cost, also affecting prices, such as the number of employees, rents, advertising, methods of doing business, etc. All the processes of production and distribution that enter into cost could likewise be controlled. If the cost of doing an intrastate business is in itself the permitted object of federal control, the extent of the regulation of cost would be a question of discretion and not of power.

The government also makes the point that efforts to enact state legislation establishing high labor standards have been impeded by the belief that unless similar action is taken generally, commerce will be diverted from the states adopting such standards, and that this fear of diversion has led to demands for federal legislation on the subject of wages and hours. The apparent implication is that the federal authority under the commerce clause should be deemed to extend to the establishment of rules to govern wages and hours in intrastate trade and industry generally throughout the country, thus overriding the authority of the states to deal with domestic problems arising from labor conditions in their internal commerce.

CENTRALIZED SYSTEM NO ISSUE AT STAKE.

It is not the province of the court to consider the economic advantages or disadvantages of such a centralized system. It is sufficient to say that the federal constitution does not provide for it. Our growth and development have called for wide use of the commerce powers of the federal government in its control over the expanded activities of interstate commerce, and in protecting that commerce from burdens, interferences and conspiracies to restrain and monopolize it. But the authority of the federal government may not be pushed to such an extreme as to destroy the distinction, which the commerce clause itself establishes, between commerce "among the several states" and the internal concerns of a state. The same answer must be made to the contention that is based upon the serious economic situation which led to the passage of the recovery act—the fall in prices, the decline in wages and employment, and the curtailment of the market for commodities. Stress is laid upon the great importance of maintaining wage distributions which would provide the necessary stimulus in starting "the cumulative forces making for expanding commercial activity."

Without in any way disparaging this motive, it is enough to say that the recuperative efforts of the federal government must be made in a manner consistent with the authority granted by the constitution.

WAGE FIXING ATTEMPT NOT FEDERAL RIGHT.

We are of the opinion that the attempt through the provisions of the code to fix the hours and wages of employees of defendants in their intrastate business was not a valid exercise of federal power.

The other violations for which defendants were convicted related to the making of local sales. Ten counts.

When you have one of those violent, nerve-racking headaches, from inorganic causes, you can get soothing relief in three minutes with "B. C." a reliable, safe, instant remedy. "B. "B. for violation of the provision as to "straight killing," were for permitting customers to make "selections of individual chickens taken from particular coops and half coops. Whether or not these practices are good or bad for the local trade, its effect, if any, upon interstate commerce was only indirect. The same may be said of violations of the code by intrastate transactions consisting of the sale "of an unfit chicken" and of sales which were not in accord with the ordinances of the city of New York. The requirements of reports as to prices and volumes of defendants' sales was incident to the effort to control their intrastate business.

In view of these conclusions, we find it unnecessary to discuss other questions which have been raised as to validity of certain provisions of the code under the due process clause of the fifth amendment.

On both the grounds we have discussed, the attempted delegation of authority to the state to regulate the regulation of intrastate transactions which affect interstate commerce only indirectly, we hold the code invalid and that the judgment of conviction must be reversed.

FOOTNOTES REFERRED TO.

(1) Codes of fair competition. "Section 3. (a) Upon the application to the president by one or more trade or industrial associations or groups, the president may approve a code or codes of fair competition for the trade or industry or subdivision thereof, represented by the applicant or applicants, if the president finds (1) that such associations or groups impose no inequitable restrictions on admission to membership therein and are truly representative of such trades or industries or subdivisions thereof; and (2) that such code or codes are not designed to promote monopolies or to eliminate or oppress small enterprises, but are intended to prevent discrimination against them, and will tend to effectuate the policy of this title; Provided, that such code or codes shall not permit monopolies or monopolistic practices; Provided further, that where such code or codes affect the services and welfare of persons engaged in other steps of the economic process, nothing in this section shall deprive such persons of the right to be heard prior to approval by the president of such code or codes. The president may, as a condition of his approval of any such code, impose such conditions (including requirements for the making of reports and the keeping of accounts) for the protection of consumers, competitors, employees and others, and in furtherance of the public interest, and may provide such exceptions to or exemptions from the provisions of such code, as the president in his discretion deems necessary to effectuate the policy herein declared."

(b) After the president shall have approved any such code, the provisions of such code shall be the standards of fair competition for such trade or industry or subdivision thereof. Any violation of such standards in any transaction in or affecting interstate or foreign commerce shall be deemed an unfair method of competition in commerce within the meaning of the federal trade commission act, as amended; but nothing in this title shall be construed to impair the powers of the federal trade commission under such act, as amended.

(c) The several district courts of the United States are hereby invested with jurisdictions to prevent and restrain violations of any code of fair competition approved under this title; and it shall be the duty of the several district attorneys of the United States, in their respective districts, under the direction of the attorney general, to institute proceedings in equity to prevent and restrain such violations.

(d) Upon his own motion, or if complaint is made to the president that abuses inimical to the public interest and contrary to the policy herein declared are prevalent in any trade or industry or subdivision thereof, and if no code of fair competition therefor has theretofore been approved by the president, the president, after such public notice and hearing as he shall specify, may prescribe and approve a code of fair competition for such trade or industry or subdivision thereof, which shall have the same effect as a code of fair competition approved by the president under subsection (a) of this section.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY HELD RESPONSIBLE.

(e) The several district courts of the United States are hereby invested with jurisdictions to prevent and restrain violations of any code of fair competition approved under this title; and it shall be the duty of the several district attorneys of the United States, in their respective districts, under the direction of the attorney general, to institute proceedings in equity to prevent and restrain such violations.

(f) Upon his own motion, or if complaint is made to the president that abuses inimical to the public interest and contrary to the policy herein declared are prevalent in any trade or industry or subdivision thereof, and if no code of fair competition therefor has theretofore been approved by the president, the president, after such public notice and hearing as he shall specify, may prescribe and approve a code of fair competition for such trade or industry or subdivision thereof, which shall have the same effect as a code of fair competition approved by the president under subsection (a) of this section.

(g) When a code of fair competition has been approved or prescribed by the president under this title, any violation of any provision thereof in any transaction in or affecting interstate or foreign commerce shall be a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof an offender shall be fined not more than $500 for each violation of each day the violation continues shall be deemed a separate offense."

EXECUTIVE ORDER IN POULTRY CASE.

(2X) The executive order is as follows:

"Executive order. "Approval of code of fair competition for the live poultry industry of the metropolitan area in and about the city of New York."

"Whereas, the secretary of agriculture and the administrator of the National Industrial Recovery Act, having rendered their separate reports and recommendations and findings on the provisions of said code, coming within their respective jurisdictions, as set forth in the executive order No. 6182 of June, 1933, as supplemented by executive order No. 6287 of July 21, 1933, and executive order No. 6345 of October 20, 1933, as amended by executive order No. 6551 of January 8, 1934;

"Now, therefore, I, Franklin D. Roosevelt, president of the United States, pursuant to the authority vested in me by Title I of the National Industrial Recovery Act, approved June 16, 1933, and otherwise, do hereby find that:

"1. An application has been duly made, pursuant to and in full compliance with the provisions of Title I of the National Industrial Recovery Act, approved June 16, 1933, for my approval of a code of fair competition for the live poultry industry in the metropolitan area in and about the city of New York; and

"2. Due notice and opportunity for hearings in connection with the proposed code of fair competition have been given pursuant to the provisions of the act and regulations thereunder; and

"3. Hearings have been held upon said code, pursuant to such notice and pursuant to the pertinent provisions of the act and regulations thereunder; and

"4. Said code of fair competition constitutes a code of fair competition, as contemplated by the act and complying with all the pertinent provisions of the act, including Clauses (1) and (2) of Subsection (a) of Section 3 of Title I of the act; and

"5. It appears, after due consideration, that said code of fair competition will tend to effectuate the policy of congress as declared in Section 1 of Title I of the act."

"Now, therefore, I, Franklin D. Roosevelt, president of the United States, pursuant to the authority vested in me by Title I of the National Industrial Recovery Act, approved June 16, 1933, and otherwise, do hereby approve said code of fair competition for the live poultry industry in the metropolitan area in and about the city of New York.

"Franklin D. Roosevelt, "President of the United States."

"The White House, April 13, 1934."

(3X)—The administrator for industrial recovery stated in his report that the code had been sponsored by trade associations representing about 350 wholesale firms, 150 retail shops, and 21 commission agencies; that these associations represented about 90 per cent of the live poultry industry by numbers and volume of business; and that the industry transacted an aggregate annual business of approximately $90,000,000. He further said that about 1,610 employees were engaged in the industry; that it had suffered severely on account of the prevailing economic conditions and because of unfair methods of competition and the abuses that had developed as a result of the "uncontrolled methods of doing business"; and that these conditions had reduced the number of employees by approximately 40 per cent. He added that the report of the research and planning division indicated that the code would bring about an increase in wages of about 20 per cent in this industry and an increase in employment of 10.2 per cent.

The prohibition in the code (Article VII, Section 14) was as follows: "Straight killing—The use, in the wholesale slaughtering of poultry, of any method of slaughtering other than 'straight killing' or killing on the basis of official grade. Purchasers may, however, make selection of a half coop, coop, or coops, but shall not have the right to make any selection of particular birds."

DECLARED POLICY. (4X)—That section, under the heading "Declaration of Policy," is as follows:

"Section 1. A national emergency productive of widespread unemployment and disorganization of industry, which burdens interstate and foreign commerce, affects the public welfare, and undermines the standards of living of the American people, is hereby declared to exist. It is hereby declared to be the policy of congress to remove obstructions to the free flow of interstate and foreign commerce which tend to diminish the amount thereof; and to provide for the general welfare by promoting the organization of industry for the purpose of co-operative action among trade groups, to induce and maintain united action of labor and management under adequate governmental sanctions and supervision, to eliminate unfair competitive practices, to promote the fullest possible utilization of the present productive capacity of industries, to avoid undue restriction of production (except as may be temporarily required), to increase the consumption of industrial and agricultural products by increasing purchasing power, to reduce and relieve unemployment, to improve standards of labor, and otherwise to rehabilitate industry and to conserve natural resources."

(5X)—The tariff act of 1930 (Section 337, 48 Stat. 703), like the tariff act of 1922 (Section 316, 42 Stat. 943), employs the expressions "unfair methods of competition" and "unfair acts" in the importation of articles into the United States, and in their sale, "the effect or tendency of which is to destroy or substantially injure an industry, efficiently and economically operated, in the United States, or to prevent the establishment of such an

It's cool in summer, warm in winter safer-smarter-more comfortable- the new "TURRET TOP" BODY by FISHER

It's cool under the hottest summer sun—this remarkable new solid steel "Turret Top" Body by Fisher. That has been completely and officially demonstrated by American Automobile Association tests, staged at Key West, Florida, under a blazing midday sun.

Recording thermometers inside tightly closed cars—cars with "Turret Top" and with conventional-type roof—and thermometers attached to the exteriors—told the story. The "Turret Top" can be depended upon for maximum coolness under even hot-weather driving conditions.

Ultra-accurate thermometers like this were hung inside a group of tightly closed motor cars at Key West, Florida, under a blazing midday sun. Some were cars with Fisher Body "Turret Top." Others had conventional type roofs. Temperature readings were made and recorded at 10-minute intervals during a 90-minute period by Kaye Don, famous British sportsman, and an official observer for the American Automobile Association. These tests conclusively proved that "Turret Top" cars can be depended upon for maximum coolness in summer heat.

It keeps out cold in zero weather, too—as other tests have convincingly proved.

You'll be amazed, also, at the quietness—the drumless, squeakless restfulness of the "Turret Top" body—even when the car is traveling at high speed.

Deeply-padded scientific insulation, developed by Fisher engineers—sound-proof and temperature resistant—has taken good care of all this.

New Style—New Comfort

You should see those stunning new Chevrolet (Master De Luxe series), Pontiac, Oldsmobile and La Salle closed car models, and note the "Turret Top's" unbroken smoothness of roof line—its harmonious flow and speed-stream sweep.

That's precisely the kind of beauty called for to crown and complete the trim, fleet smartness of these advanced 1935 General Motors cars!

New Strength

Most vital of all, the solid steel "Turret Top" Body by Fisher is the safest, smartest, soundest motor car body ever built.

That great single sheet of steel, comprising the roof, is arched and formed like the battleship turret from which it takes its name.

The strongest structure designed by man to withstand outside shock—the turret of the modern battleship. Wholly of steel, arched and crowned for strength, affords almost protection to the men who serve the guns, and is the highest development of the principles utilized by Fisher in the new solid steel "Turret Top" for closed cars.

That great single sheet of steel, comprising the roof, is arched and formed like the battleship turret from which it takes its name.

It is welded to the steel side panels, to the steel rear panels—even to the steel windshield pillars—so that the entire structure of the body is a super-rigid, shock-proof, weave-proof unit.

And its corners are rounded—sphere-like—because sphere construction gives the maximum of over-all rigidity and strength.

You'll never put the "Turret Top" body to the abusive road and proving ground punishment we have—you'll probably never have occasion to subject it to such extremes of heat, cold and shock.

But if you do, you'll find it the safest, sturdiest, most comfortable body you ever rode in.

You'll also thank Fisher Body for bringing to a higher perfection than ever this year, that equally vital contribution to motoring health and comfort—Fisher No Draft Ventilation.

When men travel deep in the sea or high in the stratosphere, they trust their lives to steel spheres—because the sphere is the strongest structure in relation to weight that can be made. For the same reason, the solid steel "Turret Top" is rounded, spherelike, to provide greater strength, rigidity and safety to the whole steel structure of the new Body by Fisher.

HIGH COURT RULES
NRA SET-UP VOID

reference to that ruling all methods of compulsory enforcement of the codes will be immediately suspended.

Everyone Confused.

The verdict of the court threw the administration and congress into a state of confusion and bewilderment. So sweeping was it, that it left them groping for means of creating a new NRA on the wreckage of the old, and posed to them the question of whether that could be done without more legal dispute.

In addition to the all-important question of what now shall become of the NRA, the decision at once set Dealers pondering the constitutionality of other key measures—the codes of AAA, federal control of the liquor industry, and the Wagner labor disputes act.

Labor was disappointed, too. William Green, president of the A. F. of L., hastened back to Washington from New York and Francis J. Gorman, vice president of the United Textile Workers, warned that departures from the textile codes wage and hour provisions would be followed by immediate strikes.

Richberg's statement apparently was intended to ward off such an eventuality. Apparently his words had the endorsement of the president, Attorney-General Cummings and Solicitor-General Stanley Reed. Both the latter attended the White House conference.

"We face now the question of maintaining the gains which have been made in the last two years and retaining the values which have been created under the National Recovery Administration," Richberg said.

"It seems clear that that question must be decided by the administration and the congress and the people of the United States within a very short time."

Richberg Traces NRA.

After appealing for continued observance and saying that compulsory enforcement was ended, Richberg said the decision would not affect "any contractual obligations which may have arisen by agreement of the parties requiring no sanction of a federal authority."

He described the history of NRA as that of a "great cooperative movement for the rehabilitation of trade and industry, for the improvement of conditions of the workers and their standard of living, for the elimination of sweatshop wages, child labor and unfair competitive practices."

Interpreting the opinion of the court, he construed its words as holding that "congress did not sufficiently define in the law the policy and standards of the wise and beneficial measures which we have undertaken, but delegated to the president the unfettered discretion to approve all provisions in codes of fair competition which he deemed 'beneficial in dealing with the array of commercial and industrial activities throughout the country.'"

Read by Hughes.

"The court held that the code-making authority thus conferred is an unconstitutional delegation of legislative power."

The high court's decision, read by Chief Justice Hughes before a tense courtroom, into which crowded Richberg and other New Deal lights, stirred the capital as has nothing else for months.

Reading slowly and with emphasis, Justice Hughes marked out the two main counts against the NRA. At one point he said:

"Extraordinary conditions may call for extraordinary remedies. But the argument stops short of attempting to defend action outside of constitutional authority."

"Extraordinary conditions do not create constitutional power."

Spreading out fragments of words were a swift rush of developments, statements of opinion and of ideas as to what should be done to handle the situation.

Committee Quits.

The house ways and means committee, in charge of now-doomed administration plans for extending NRA for two years in much its old form, must almost immediately be adjourned with nothing accomplished. Its chairman, Doughton, of North Carolina, asserted: "It will require careful study."

Chairman Harrison, of the Senate finance committee, emerged from a study of the opinion with an optimistic expression that something might be salvaged. Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the democratic leader, contended it will not be extremely difficult to "create more definite standard."

The senate has already approved a nine-month extension, with NRA limited to interstate business. "I think it possible to repair the damage at the session," Harrison told reporters. "The decision greatly clarifies the situation and should remove those doubts so congress can proceed rapidly to re-enact appropriate legislation."

"It is my opinion that the law can and should be changed and extended, adopting adequate amendments with reference to the delegation of authority which the court seems to have refused to accept and accordingly to restrict code operations to transactions in interstate commerce."

Congressional Reaction.

In other congressional quarters, reference was made to the decision.

EFFECT OF RULING
ON CAPITAL, LABOR
WIDELY DEBATED

The constitution has been saved," said Borah, republican, Idaho, one of these.

"Thank God for the supreme court," said Senator King, democrat, Utah, and several others echoed these exact words.

Typical of another point of view was Senator White, republican, Maine, words. He expressed a belief business would improve with the elimination of some governmental restrictions.

While the opinion of the court was unanimous, Associate Justices Stone and Cardozo joined in a concurring opinion taking exception to a minor point in the argument of their seven associates. They also took occasion to interpret the ruling as meaning:

"If a trade or an industry is so predominantly local as to be exempt from regulation by the congress in respect of matters such as these, there can be no code for it at all."

Presidential Powers.

The opinion of the seven, prepared and delivered by Chief Justice Hughes, was emphatic in its assertions the law delegated congressional powers to the president without sufficient restrictions and limitations to bring that action inside the scope of the constitution.

He prefaced his statement of conclusions with a resume of the case, concerning the A. L. A. Schechter Poultry Company, of Brooklyn.

It was then he asserted that "extraordinary conditions" do not justify "action which lies outside the sphere of constitutional authority."

To the argument of supporters of the law that the national crisis justified an intensive co-operative effort, he replied more than a voluntary effort was involved, that, in fact, the statute involved "the coercive exercise of the law-making power."

He referred to the court's recent decision in the "hot oil" case, holding a section of the recovery act invalid because of a too-broad grant of authority and said the present case should be decided after determining whether proper limitations and safeguards had been imposed.

"Accordingly we look to the statute to see whether congress has overstepped these limitations—whether congress in authorizing 'codes of fair competition' has itself established the standards of legal obligation, thus performing its essential legislative function, or by the failure to enact such standards, has attempted to transfer that function to others."

"Fair Competition." Discussing the phrase "fair competition," the chief justice found that in modern times it had come to include a variety of practices, but that it "has been understood in the law, does not reach the objective of the codes which are authorized" by the act.

"The codes may, indeed, cover conduct which existing law condemns, but they are not limited to conduct of that sort," he said. "The government does not contend that the act contemplates such a limitation. It would be opposed both to the declared purposes of the act and to its administrative construction."

"In providing for codes, the National Recovery Act dispenses with this administrative procedure and with any administrative procedure of an analogous character."

Hughes noted that "fair competition" was nowhere defined in the act; that the president was authorized to approve codes which would tend to effectuate the policy of the act, and that he could impose conditions for the protection of consumers, competitors, employees and others and to allow such exemptions as he "deems necessary to effectuate the policy herein declared."

The declaration of policy referred to, he said, "embraces a broad range of objectives," among them "the elimination of unfair competitive practices."

"But even if this clause were to be taken to relate to practices which fall under the ban of existing law, it still only one of the authorized aims described in Section 1 (the statement of policy)."

actions upon interstate commerce must be recognized as a fundamental one, essential to the maintenance of our constitutional system. Otherwise, as we have said, there would be virtually no limit to the federal power and for all practical purposes we should have a completely centralized government.

The persons employed in slaughtering and selling in local trade are not employed in interstate commerce. Their hours and wages have no direct relation to interstate commerce.

If the federal government may determine the wages and hours of employees in the internal commerce of a state, because of their relation to cost and prices, and their indirect effect upon interstate commerce, it would seem that a similar control might be exerted over other elements of cost, also affecting prices, such as the number of employees, rents, advertising, methods of doing business, etc.

All the processes of production and distribution that enter into cost could likewise be controlled if the cost of doing an intrastate business is in itself the permitted object of federal control, the extent of the regulation of cost would be a question of discretion and not of power.

It is not the province of the court to consider the economic advantages or disadvantages of a centralized system (of government). It is sufficient to say that the federal constitution does not provide for it.

We are of the opinion that the attempt through the provisions of the code to fix the hours and wages of employees of defendants in intrastate business was not a valid exercise of federal power.

On both the grounds we have discussed, the attempted delegation of legislative power, and the attempted regulation of intrastate transactions which affect interstate commerce only indirectly, we hold the code provisions here in question to be invalid and that the judgment of conviction must be reversed.

GOVERNOR IS SPEAKER
AT JONESBORO SCHOOL
JONESBORO, Ga., May 27.—With Governor Talmadge as the chief speaker, the Jonesboro schools closed here tonight, 31 seniors receiving diplomas. The commencement sermon was preached Sunday by Dr. J. McDowell Richards, president of Columbia Theological Seminary, of Decatur.

Governor Talmadge made no direct reference to the Roosevelt administration and in commenting upon the speech of one of the students on "Work" he said it was appropriate because of the fact that the NRA program was declared unconstitutional today.

Professor R. E. Miller is superintendent of the school.

War and had resided in Atlanta a number of years. In addition to his wife, he is survived by a son, Raymond Leonard Abrell; a daughter, Betty Jean Abrell; and his mother, Mrs. Ella Edmonds, of Atlanta. Funeral arrangements will be announced by the J. Austin Dillon Company.

PERFORMANCE THAT COUNTS

Performance—not for just a season or two, but year after year after year—is what counts in a refrigerator. It outweighs everything else. In buying a refrigerator, look first to the mechanism.

Sealed in a fortress of steel, the matchless mechanism in every General Electric refrigerator is protected from air, dirt and moisture. These are the elements that cause wear, rust and corrosion, and cut short the life of an unprotected mechanism. If you wish lasting performance in the refrigerator you get, be sure the mechanism is sealed in steel.

Hundreds of thousands of G-E refrigerators in use for many years are as mechanically "young" as the day they were purchased. When you buy a G-E, you get 5 YEARS PROTECTION AGAINST FAILURE OF THE MECHANISM FOR ONLY $1 A YEAR (included in price). This you can get in all three types, Monitor Tops, Flatops and Liftops. Remember, you pay no price penalty for G-E performance. Thousands have found it costs less to own a G-E! See these performers in our Million Dollar Circus of Values now going on!

3 YEARS TO PAY ON ANY MODEL

KELVINATOR $99.50 CASH
Model Shown Here

We have never seen more beautiful refrigerators than the 1935 Kelvinators. You can take your choice of 19 models. They vary in size, number of features and price. But regardless of the one you select, you get the quality, dependable performance and value you have a right to expect from the oldest manufacturer of domestic refrigerators.

You'll like the Kelvinator Food File with the vegetable crisper, the dairy section and thrift trays, the five-purpose control panel and many other features.

The model shown here is one of the greatest values Kelvinator has ever built. It makes 42 cubes of ice at a freezing and has eight square-feet of shelf area. It sells for $99.50 cash, slightly higher on terms. As long as three years to pay. See it by all means.

Miss Huddleston And Mr. Peacock Are Complimented

Miss Louise Huddleston and her fiancé, J. W. Peacock, were honor guests Saturday evening at a bridge party given by Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Ray and Mr. and Mrs. Don E. Woods, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray on Ridgecrest road.

The house was attractively decorated with spring flowers and Miss Huddleston was presented a lovely corsage of gardenias by the hostesses. Bridge was enjoyed by the guests and attractive bridal molds of cream and cake were served during the evening.

Guests included Miss Huddleston, Mr. Peacock, Miss Frances Jameson, Bill Heinley, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Parnelle, Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Heard, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Neely, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Griffin, Mr. and Mrs. Merrell Low, Mr. and Mrs. Woods and Mr. and Mrs. Ray.

Other parties are being planned for Miss Huddleston and Mr. Peacock after their marriage on May 31. Miss Peggy Capoe will be hostess at a bridge party at her home on West Peachtree immediately after their return to the city, and Muggs Smith will be host at a dinner and dancing party at East Lake on Saturday, June 8.

The Girls' Golden Rule class of Westminster Presbyterian church complimented Miss Huddleston, former teacher and founder of the class, at a luncheon and handkerchief shower Saturday at Davidson's tea room. The table was decorated with flowers, and at each member's place was a small doll dressed as a bridesmaid. In front of the honor guest was arranged a paper doll wedding, featuring the bride, the groom and numerous attendants, as well as a doll bride to match the bridesmaids at the plates of the members. Miss Huddleston was given a surprise handkerchief shower.

Mrs. W. Arthur Stokes Jr., who was hostess Saturday afternoon at her home on Cameron court in honor of Miss Huddleston. The house was exquisitely decorated with flowers and bridge was played. Guests were Miss Huddleston, Miss Virginia Sewell, Betty Cole, Bertha McKinnon, Rose Atkins, Mesdames Wayne Griffin, Don E. Woods, Sam C. Heard, Lewis Ray, Merrell Low, Morris Stephenson, and L. Press Huddleston.

Past Pocahontas Club.

Sally Votes Orchids to Dr. Jacobs For Importing Important Visitors

By Sally Forth.

SALLY would like to vote orchids—oodles of them—to Dr. Thornwell Jacobs for bringing to Atlanta a group of the most distinguished women it has been her privilege to meet. If he could have persuaded them to linger on after receiving their degrees at Oglethorpe, he would be in line for eternal blessings, for it was perfectly tantalizing to have only a glimpse of such fascinating people.

Sally counted it her red letter day to be placed between Georgia's beloved Miss Martha Berry and Dr. Annie Jump Cannon at the luncheon at which Dr. Jacobs welcomed his visitors. Dr. Cannon, you know, knows more about the stars in the heavens and has discovered more about astronomy than any other woman. And if you heard her vastly interesting lecture on "Our Neighbor Universe" Saturday evening, you realized what a store of knowledge on the subject she has at her command. But would you believe it, she disclaims all credit for the honors she has won. "Oh, it was all the result of a woman's curiosity," she said, and with that she dismissed the subject and the tributes being paid her.

Which is typical of Dr. Cannon. Sally found her amazingly human, and possessing the most delicious sense of humor. Harvard Observatory, which counts her as one of its greatest assets, must find much inspiration in such a stimulating personality.

Vassar's Dean Mildred Thompson was, quite naturally, being overwhelmed with cordial welcomes from everyone, and especially from Elizabeth Whitman Hunt, for "Miss Mildred" made doll clothes for her when she was a little girl, and she has grown up under the spell of her charm. And there was lovely Ella O'Day, who accompanied her mother, Mrs. Caroline O'Day, and who was discovering mutual friends way down in Cape Town, Africa, with Mildred Seydell. Ella received quite an ovation on her own account, for she found a number of former friends upon her arrival, among whom were Edmond Brady, whom she knew in Washington, and Margaret Nelson Williams, whom she met upon frequent visits to their mutual friend, Mrs. Robert Cluett, the former Catherine Moorhead, of Charlotte, N. C. She considered herself most fortunate that Margaret was in Atlanta at the time of her visit.

Charming, petite Mrs. Ogden Reid is a highlight in any gathering. She immediately attracted Sally's attention by her dainty beauty and by her keen, distinctly alive manner. And she struck a mutual chord when she voiced her great admiration for The Constitution's editor, Clark Howell. Mrs. Reid, you know, is both vice president and publisher of New York's Herald-Tribune, and what a dynamic little person she is! She wore red—that lovely deep red that reminds one of old wine.

An additional honor, Sally thinks, should be conferred upon Mrs. George Gould for bringing with her to Atlanta her handsome son, Ormond Gould. Mr. Gould is quite a figure in New York's financial circles, and Sally wagers, in social circles, too.

Others who received the coveted honors at Oglethorpe were Mrs. Florence Rena Sabine, Atlanta's beloved Miss Ruth Blair, Amelia Earhart, Miss Josephine Roche and Caroline Miller. Now don't you agree that Dr. Jacobs deserves tons of orchids for giving Atlanta the pleasure of greeting such a brilliant company? And Sally would like to vote him an additional palm for being the perfect host that he is.

WHAT could be termed as a "triumphal march" is the current tour of Judy King throughout the northeast. This popular young Atlanta horsewoman is attending a series of horse shows exhibiting her famous string along with other stables from throughout the country.

Word came to Sally yesterday that during the week-end Judy added more honors to her already long list in winning at the Devon show in Devon, Pa. She won first in the single harness class and first in the ladies phaeton class with her famous pair. Just last week the Atlanta belle won many firsts in classes at the Atlantic City show as well as the Chalfonte-Haddon Hall $1,000 championship harness stake.

Judy returns here on next Saturday and will be accompanied by Harriett McCullough Donaldson, who has attended the shows with her, and also Mrs. Robert Wilson, of Philadelphia,

DR. WYNEKOOP REVIEW DENIED BY HIGH COURT

Tribunal Also Refuses Action on 'Lindbergh Kidnaping Law.'

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(AP)—The supreme court refused today to interfere with the 25-year sentence imposed on Dr. Alice L. Wynekoop, Chicago physician convicted of the operating-table murder of her daughter-in-law, Rheta, in November, 1933.

It declined to review the 63-year-old physician's contention that her conviction in Illinois courts had been obtained by introduction of a statement, which she said had been in voluntarily made, without a preliminary

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(AP)—Five-year prison terms imposed on Clifford Skelly and Edward Berman for having in their possession ransom money paid for the release of Charles F. Urschel, wealthy Oklahoma City oil man kidnaped and held for $200,000 ransom, were in effect upheld today by the supreme court.

It refused to review the sentences pronounced by the federal district court for western Oklahoma. The men contended the "Lindbergh kidnapping law" did not apply to them because the evidence had failed to prove they participated in the abduction.

COURT AGREES TO REVIEW
ALABAMA HARBOR CASE
WASHINGTON, May 27.—(P

The supreme court today agreed to review an Alabama supreme court ruling upholding a $7.50 harbor fee levied on each vessel of 500 tons or more entering the port of Mobile.

The validity of the dock commission order was challenged by the Clyde Mallory Lines, which protested such charges were in effect tonnage duties which can be imposed on vessels engaged in interstate commerce only by

The Alabama court held the harbor fee was within the powers of the state.

INSURANCE COMPANY
UPHELD BY TRIBUNAL

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(P)—Ray T. Mobley, of Gulfport, Miss., lost in the supreme court today in a claim against the New York Life Insurance Company for approximately $29,000.

The company paid him the disability benefits for two years, but in 1932 notified him, each year

March, 1953, notified him such payments would cease because it had been advised he was no longer totally disabled. After further inquiry the company found Mobley was totally disabled because of heart trouble and tendered him $910 as accrued benefits.

Meanwhile Mobley had taken the position the company had violated its insurance contracts and brought suit to recover damages based on the estimated present value of the insurance

The damages were calculated on the basis total disability would continue until his death, and that he would live the period given in insurance companies' life expectancy tables, plus the amount that would be due under the

The federal district court held Mobley should accept the money tendered by the insurance company, and denied him the damages. Its action was approved by the fifth circuit court of appeals.

'GREEN LIGHT' TOPIC OF MRS. MORRIS' TALK

Mrs. Emma Garrett Morris will talk on "Green Light," by Lloyd C. Douglas, in Rich's tea room Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock.

Lloyd Douglas has rapidly become one of the most popular fiction authors in America. His two previous novels, "Forgive Us Our Trespasses" and "Magnificent Obsession," swept the country as best sellers. "Green Light" has been leading the list of national best sellers by a wide margin ever since its publication several months ago.

All those interested are invited to attend these lectures by Mrs. Morris each Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock.

RUTH DEAN IS DENIED

REVIEW BY HIGH COURT

JACKSON, Miss., May 27.—(AP)—The Mississippi supreme court today refused to reopen for review the appeal of Dr. Sarah Ruth Dean, Greenwood woman physician, from a life with the "poison whisky highball" death of Dr. John Preston Kennedy, her surgeon associate. The high court dismissed her case by overruling suggestions of error.

viction by a divided three-to-three vote of the court and her counsel filed exceptions asking a review of the case and contesting the tie vote, which under Mississippi law affirmed the conviction.

TERRIBLE TURK IN TOUGH SPOT; SAUER REFORMS

Glendale Giant Plans Serious Quest of World Mat Title.

The word is going around that Pete Sauer has wearied of the primrose path and is settling down to serious work in pursuit of the heavyweight wrestling championship of the world.

Sauer, the Glendale (Cal.) Giant, meets Yonoff Mahmut, the Terrible Turk, in the feature match of Henry Weber's weekly show Wednesday night at the Ponce de Leon ball park.

It is just as well that Sauer is turning over a new leaf and settling down to business at this time because Mahmut is capable of knocking the props out from under most any wrestler with title aspirations.

Pete Sauer might have been champion long ago had not the appeal of the bright lights outside of the ring proved such a counter attraction. He has continued to linger about the top, just a few steps away from the throne room.

Sauer has every right to be a champion should Jim Londos ever slip, which is inevitable. The only drawback is that Londos may continue to hold the championship until Sauer is too old to step in when Jim steps out.

Should Londos lose his crown with in the next two or three years, however, the resultant scramble probably would find Sauer in the front row. He has all the assets, and he is passing up all the liabilities.

A colorful supporting program has been arranged by Matchmaker Weber. George Koverly, who lost to Sauer in last week's feature, engages George Kirmelich in the one-hour semi-main event.

Chief Chewacki, the Gypsy Prince, and Marshall Blackstock, Atlanta boy, battle in the opener.

Tickets are on sale at the Piedmont Hatters.

ARVEN GOLFERS TOP LINK LOOP

By Albert Riley Jr.

THOMASVILLE, Ga., May 27.—(P)—With the standings somewhat jumbled by several tie games and postponed encounters, Thomsville led the Georgia-Florida Golf league today with but one week remaining in the season's schedule.

The Glen Arven linkers virtually clinched the championship here last Thursday by losing out Tallahassee 8 to 7, but the local sharpshooters must defeat the strong Valdosta contingent next Thursday to gain the title.

Thomsville has a record of six victories and one defeat but should the team lose to Valdosta and Albany or Tallahassee win their matches Thursday, the tied and postponed engagements affecting all teams in the league would have a bearing on the chase and probably would have to be played off before the championship is decided.

Second to Thomsville in the standings is Albany with five wins and three losses. Tallahassee is in third place, with Valdosta, Monticello and Bainbridge out of the title picture and standing in the rear of the pack.

Standings to date:

| TEAM | W | L | Pct. |
|-------------|---|---|------|
| Thomsville | 6 | 1 | .857 |
| Albany | 5 | 3 | .625 |
| Tallahassee | 4 | 3 | .571 |
| Valdosta | 3 | 4 | .429 |
| Monticello | 2 | 6 | .333 |
| Bainbridge | 1 | 5 | .167 |

The material for the final round of the league is as follows:

Thomsville vs. Valdosta.
Albany vs. Bainbridge.
Tallahassee vs. Monticello.

RUFF PUT OUT IN KEY MATCH

The largest crowd of the season saw four exceptionally fine matches last night at the Key arena.

Tiny Ruff, who was out to live up to his name and win a championship, but a bit too severe in his match with Louis LaChene, the French star, and Referee Jay Jarvis disqualified him.

Tarzan Jordan took a close third in his match with Totton. Pole Anderson, the Alaskan, Anderson smothered the referee and then planted a right on Jordan's chin. It was an unpopular decision, which the fans booed lustily.

In the other matches Sammy Miller defeated John Dameron two out of three falls and Lou Barrell threw Joe Willard after an exciting set-out.

4-Time Titleholder Is Finally Dethroned

NEWCASTLE, COUNTY DOWN, Ireland, May 27.—(P)—Ada Mackenzie, of Toronto, four-time winner of the Canadian women's championship, was eliminated from the British women's golf championship here today by Lady Edith, of Aliburgh, 2 and 1.

"I played too carefully," said Miss Mackenzie after the match.

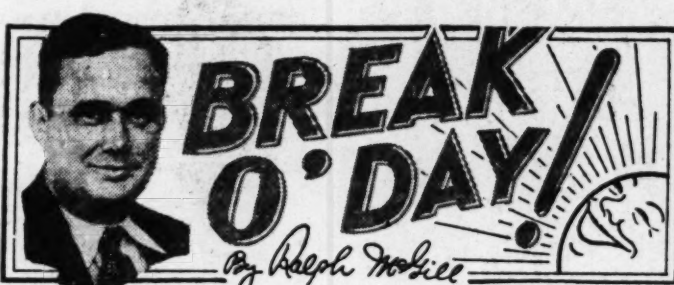

Grace Amory, of West Palm Beach, Fla., the only American entrant, was eliminated by Miss F. Totton, of St. Cloud, France, 3 and 1, in a first-round match.

Bobby To Leave Today for Match

Bobby Jones, the retired world champion golfer, has been ill since last Thursday with a slight attack of appendicitis, it was learned Monday, but intends to leave at noon today for New York, where he will participate in an exhibition.

"Bobby has been in bed since last Thursday, but it is not serious," Robert P. Jones Sr., his father, said. "He will leave Tuesday to fulfill the engagement in New York."

The exhibition match, with Jones paired with Joyce Wethered, of England, four-times British women's champion, against Gene Sarazen and Mrs. Glenna Collette Vare, of Philadelphia, five-times United States titleholder, is scheduled for Thursday at the Women's Golf and Tennis Club on Long Island.

Well, clients, here we are at the ball park once more where those irresistible Crackers are performing.

The preliminaries are all over. Joe Palmisano contributed a little extra act to the preliminaries by getting out and playing catch with Joe Palmisano Jr., who looked very neat in his tan suit. He is about six years old.

Harry Kelley had just tried to inveigle the Cracker catcher into a pepper game and he had refused, saying, "I have a cold and don't feel so well." And just then Joe Jr. came up with an old glove and so Joe Sr. went out and played match. This was early, before the crowd came.

We sat around on the bench and talked of hitters and pitchers and the Crackers chided the Vols as they took their batting practice.

They are in high good humor, these players who are representing our town in baseball. They are slapping one another on the back and skylarking around like kids. After years of watching losing players this new spirit is rather marked.

Alex Hooks keeps an eye on that bat which he and Eddie Moore share. It began on the first day Hooks played. His bats hadn't arrived. He used Manager Moore's and got four hits in four times at bat. His bats are here but he sticks to that bat of Moore's.

"How about the idea there are only so many hits in a bat?" I asked.

"Say," said Joe Palmisano, "maybe that's it. I've been using that bat, too. Those two guys are getting the hits out of it and leaving none for me. I'll try another one today."

And so the talk runs on. With lines like these: "See that guy up there... he hits a low ball... keep them up on him... now, THAT bird who's just come up... well, he likes them low... HE MURDERS THEM DOWN THERE... this one can't hit a change of pace... Say, that Martin has got big arms—holly cow, look at 'em... He's a good infielder, too... Who's that pitching to batters for them?... He's Collier... I remember, Detroit used to own him... YEAH, HE WAS WITH BEAUMONT FOR A WHILE... Say, how'd you guys like to go to a chicken dinner some night this week?... We've got an invitation... I hear the Coast league isn't doing so well... it may fold unless things pick up..." And so it goes. Bench talk.

THE HITS IN THAT BAT.

That Eddie Moore bat has some hits left. The third inning is going along and Henry Oana, back in the lineup, celebrates his return with a home run into the republican stands in left field. Two hitters go out and then comes Manager Eddie Moore. He bangs one to the roof of the same stands. It bounds back but because it went out of the park it is a home run.

Meanwhile Alex Hooks, who began this game with the amazing batting average of .733 from 11 hits in 15, has gone hitless in his first two tries. But his fielding is as amazing as his hitting.

When Eddie Moore goes back to left field the colored fans stand and give him a cheer. Willie Green, from New Orleans, led the cheering.

HOOKS' FOOTBALL INJURIES.

Alex Hooks played football for three years at S. M. U., where Ray Morrison coached before going to the Vanderbilt Commodores.

Before the game I asked him, "Any injuries in football?"

"A few," he grinned. "I broke my right shoulder, my right ankle, my left little finger and two ribs on my right side. Feel."

I felt the ribs at the spot indicated and there was a big lump there.

"Got that in my first varsity game," he said. "We were playing Baylor. I leaped up and got a pass. A fellow hit me at the same time I caught it and I came down hard, falling on the point of the ball and breaking two ribs. I knew I was hurt but I didn't know how badly. So, I just stayed in there. I was afraid if I said I was hurt Morrison might take me out. I played all the game."

All of which requires stuff behind the belt buckle. Hooks comes up to bat. After two outs he singles to right on his third try and the crowd cheers. It is an even dozen hits in 18 times at bat.

GETTING A PITCHER OUT OF THERE.

In the sixth inning Lefty Eiland goes sorrowfully from the box, yielding to Stafford.

He had been the victim of that terrible disease known to the trade as bunched hits. It is far superior to the hives or the shingles as an irritant.

In the first inning the first three Crackers hit safely, producing one run. Eiland is wobbling. But he allows no hits in the second inning. In the third Oana and Moore hit home runs and Palmisano singles. Eiland is about finished. Manager Brazill starts a man warming up. But Eiland pitches well in the fourth.

He staggers through the fifth with no runs but in the seventh the bunched hits epidemic flares again. Four singles and two runs are enough. They take him out. He goes to the dugout, his head bowed.

A few minutes later he emerges and starts the long walk to the tunnel which leads to the dressing room. The crowd jeers.

ALEX LIKES ALEX HOOKS.

Coach W. A. Alexander is a visitor in the press box for the game. He particularly wanted to see Alex Hooks, the former S. M. U. football player.

"Well, he certainly looks like a football player!" is his comment as the big fellow comes up to bat. "I'll bet he was a good end."

Hooks turns in a great fielding play to indicate he also is a real ball player.

A HOT SUNDAY FOR LINDSEY.

Big Jim Lindsey revels in the hot sun. He whirled through five hitless innings, allowing two hits in the first inning and no more until Poco Taitt got a short one in the seventh.

PHILLIES SNAP PIRATES' STREAK AT FOUR GAMES

Winners Pound Four Hurlers for Fifteen Hits.

PITTSBURGH, May 27.—(P)—The Pittsburgh Pirates' winning streak was snapped at four games today as the Phillies registered their first victory of the year over the Bucs by the score of 4 to 2.

Effortless hits rang off the bats of the Phillies but they were kept away from the plate except in the second when they jumped into a three-run lead and again in the third when they put across their final tally. A pair of double plays squashed other scoring attempts.

The three-run attack drove Bill Swift from the mound, but before the game was over Manager Pie Traynor gave Guy Bush, Waite Hoyt and Ralph Binkozer on the mound as he inserted pinch hitters in an effort to get hits when men were on the bases.

Johnny Pezullo, rookie southpaw, started on the mound for the Phils but lasted only until the fourth when the Pirates touched him for four hits and two runs. Enel Moore was called to the rescue with the bases loaded and after stopping the rally by fanning Tommy Thevenow, he blanked the Pirates through the remainder of the contest.

'Prince' Returns With a Bang

"Prince" Henry Oana, Cracker outfielder, shown above, returned to the lineup yesterday after warming the bench for quite a spell and collected himself four hits in five trips to the plate, one a home run in the third inning. Oana has been in a bad batting slump lately but yesterday the "Prince" seemed to have regained his eye.

Engel Wants To Play More Games in Atlanta

Mann Reports Rival Owners Aghast, Amazed and Pleased at Attendance.

By Ralph McGill.

There were a couple of items of interest at the ball lot yesterday.

Mr. Earl Mann, that efficient vice president and secretary, returned from Memphis with the story of how the rival owners of ball clubs were suffering from a mixture of emotions. They are aghast, amazed and pleased at the manner in which the Crackers are playing and drawing them in at the gate.

On the ball field the Crackers, when polled, declared that the ball club was just now reaching its real form and beginning to click and that it would become more and more effective as the days go on.

Both of these items are important.

Engel was the subject of much talk yesterday.

Engel gave them warning, according to Mann, that he would be present at the schedule meeting next winter and get some Atlanta dates.

"I am going to take all my clothes and all my money. I will spend as much time there as I have to but I am going to get the opening date of fans," Joe Engel was reported as saying.

Mann reported that Joe Engel was in the doldrums about the schedule.

"They are drawing great gobs of fans," Joe Engel was reported as saying.

"I am going to take all my clothes and all my money. I will spend as much time there as I have to but I am going to get the opening date of fans," Joe Engel was reported as saying.

Mann said he was even prouder of Atlanta fans when he witnessed the Memphis game Sunday. The occasion was "John D. Martin day" and the owners very properly awarded the president with a $500 gold cup and a beautiful of blue glass tobacco.

"They had a big day over there and a double-header," said Mann, "and yet they drew only 5,500 fans for a double-header."

LEAGUE PLEASED.

"We've got the finest baseball fans in the world and the rest of the league is scared to death but pleased to be able to eat in on the receipts," said Mann.

The eating tobacco presented to John D. Martin was proffered in a basket made of tobacco. The judge is an expert at handling his eating

THE LOVE FLIGHT

By JANE DIXON

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE. Anne Austin, the family fortune wiped out in the crash, her mother dead, and her father, a New York banker, a suicide, has fled to the South. She has chosen to live in the same social circles as the Austins. Craig's growing infatuation is evident to all and Anne's friends cannot understand why she does not make her fortune secure by accepting him. She knows he would have proposed a score of times had he not held him off. Why does she postpone the moment that will mean a return of the old lavish days, she asks herself. Then comes the news that Craig's removal of her is imminent. Again, Anne pretends faintness, she rushes away for aid, and she hurries from her room to the study. Back in New York her cousin, Maida Strydom, remonstrates with her for throwing away a chance any other girl in her set would jump at. Even Anne herself is ill-mannered—until she is caught with herself: she cannot think of marriage with this blue-eyed man who has amused himself with the flatteries of Mayfair and Broadway but is still for Victor. For a moment Anne considers receding him, then decides she cannot tolerate the thought; she must wait. Still undecided where she will set up for her hotel bill, telling the clerk there is no forwarding address. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

INSTALLMENT V.

Anne's first impression of the interior of Bois Joli was that she was wandering through a maze heavy with the perfume of flowers, with a confusion of objects and vistas. She was carried upward in a bijou elevator, followed the maid through another maze.

"You come to serve madame?" The maid stopped before doors resembling the portals to a throne room.

"I hope to serve madame. I have been engaged to assist madame's maid."

"Heaven help you! She's there, behind the doors. Go through the foyer and turn to the left. You cannot miss the way. And don't speak to Madame until she speaks to you."

The doors opened, noiselessly. Anne entered into such a blaze of lights that she stood still, blinking like a mole emerged into the sunlight.

Anne turned to the left, walking cautiously, jerkily. She had become a marionette.

Proceeding along the lane of dazzling light, Anne came abruptly to a halt. Ahead of her a voice boomed. A voice raucous, belligerent. A man's voice? It must be. Had she happened upon a family row? Perhaps she had better turn and exit rapidly, await a happier moment for entrance.

"But, Madame, it is the gown you asked for. The arm, lower—oh—you've torn it!" This voice was distinctly feminine.

"Take it off! Pull it off!" The booming voice again. "Not over my head. Down. Where's the scissors."

Whack it open. Ouch! The scissors, I tell you!"

"Oh, Madame," protesting. "The beautiful new gown, and so expensive—"

"Whack it! Here, where it pinches. The thing is skinning me alive."

A brief space and then:

"Whew! That's better. Now bring me something I can get into without doubling up like a jackknife. The pink lace with the thimbles on the shoulder."

But, Madame, the pink lace is for dining, huh? And suppose I want to wear it for a nightgown? What have you got to say to that?"

"Nothing, Madame."

"Then see you say it. And get me the pink lace."

Despite the feeling she had that she was strung together by electric wires, which had become crossed so that her limbs would not function, Anne smiled. She could visualize the scene. It might have been lifted from a comedy. She forced herself to continue in the direction of the voices.

A dozen steps and she was in the entrance to a very large room with the circular walls and domed ceiling. In the middle of the room stood the most amazing woman she had ever seen. A tall raw-boned woman with blunt features and round eyes that darted like those of an angry bird. Far back in the woman's hair, though, that held Anne in thrall. Red hair. There was no other word for it. Luminous red that crackled!

The round eyes, bright and burning, darted at Anne, fastened on her. "Who are you?" Boom! Boom!

Anne's mind flashed a message of warning: "Don't let her frighten you. 'I'm Anne Brent.' Anne said, smiling. 'I come from the Phoenix Employment Agency. I have been sent to assist madame's maid."

"You hear that, Bats?" The woman gloated at the maid who was gathering a mound of bright green silk from the floor. "Don't let her frighten you. I hire servants to help my servants. Pretty soon I'll have an army of dummies. All right, you," turning back to Anne, "what did you say your name is?"

"Anne Brent."

"I don't like it. Anne's too long. You are fuzzy bird. All right, Fifi. Take off your hat and let me see what you can do."

Anne removed her hat, placed it with her bag on a table. Fifi. She must pinch her lips together to keep the smile from breaking through.

"Now then, Bats, you show Fifi where I keep my clothes. Let her pick a dress for me. I'm having company for lunch and I want to look like a human being, not like a holy fright. Hurry!"

The maid addressed as Bats led Anne to an adjoining room as large as the circular one, lined with closets and drawers. Dextrously Bats slid back panels at one side of this room, disclosing rows of gowns hung like a spectrum in order of their colors.

"These are my dresses, for luncheon," she told Anne, indicating the array. "Be quick or madame will go into a temper and then you will never please her."

Swiftly Anne rifled through the collection. This, an instant told her. A chiffon in black and white, simple, effective. She removed it from its hanger, placed it over her arm and with Bats returned to the room where Mrs. Adolph Hoag waited.

"I should choose this one, madame," she said, holding the dress and white gown out for inspection.

Madame regarded her with something like awe.

"Maybe you ain't so dumb," she said. "A man by the name of Plattou or something like that, picked it out for me himself. He keeps a dressmaking shop in Paris. Bats, bring me the pink lace."

Anne held the black and white chiffon while Bats fled for the pink lace. But the pink lace on "me," madame boomed, when Bats returned. "Don't stand there gawking." Then to Anne, "There now," when the pink lace had been slipped over her head and fastened. "What's wrong with it? You don't like it. I can tell by your face. Why?"

"I do like it," Anne said quietly.

"It's a very lovely gown, but you look so sour about it. Out with it! That's what you're paid for. Speak up!"

Anne plunged.

"It doesn't become you. She shade is bad for your hair."

"You mean my hair is bad for the shade. Two pink and they don't match. Well, it's the hair I was born with. I didn't get it out of a bottle."

Anne thinking: She's telling the truth. It's natural. I must be gracious.

"You're hair is unusual, Madame, and colorful. You should wear black and white, subdued shades for contrast. Strong colors clash, and destroy the natural charm of your coloring."

"There you are, Bats," Madame was triumphant. "I got an artist in the family. Bats, you get busy and weed them strong ones out of the closets. Tomorrow Fifi will go to."

Celeste and to Renee and the other pirates and tell 'em what's what."

"What will I do with the gown you don't want, Madame?"

"Stick 'em in the ash barrel or give 'em to the poor or swallow 'em. I don't care, so you get 'em out of my sight."

Anne stood by while Bats helped Madame into the black and white chiffon.

"I oughta have some kind of junk around my neck," Madame said, surveying herself in a fleet of mirrors. "What do you say to that, Fifi?"

"A small strand of pearls would be nice."

"Um. Bring me the smallest string you've got, Bats, and my bracelets."

Bracelets? Great, heavy glittering bands of diamonds and rubies and emeralds and sapphires to the elbows. Anne held her peace. The bracelets would have to go for the present.

"You're a good natured girl, Fifi," Madame remarked, "but you're too thin. Maybe you're one of the sickly ones. If you are, you'd better get out now. Any complaining to be done in this house I do it myself!"

"My health is excellent, Madame," Anne hastened to reassure.

"Good. Then you go with Bats. She'll show you where you'll sleep. Don't bother me unless I send for you. Bats, gimme a lawnmower. I hate the damn things but I've got 'em so I might as well wear 'em."

Anne's room was in the rear of the blue pile under the eaves. Its single window overlooked a stretch of garden and green lawn. Far back, partially hidden by a screen of shrubbery, was what she supposed was the garage. A figure materialized from the blue background of the garage buildings and was silhouetted for a moment against the green of the shrubs.

"It's a cozy little room—a bit warm, don't you think?" she said to Bats. She must account for the sudden warm flush in her cheeks, in case Bats, too, had been looking out of the window and would guess the cause.

"This side of the house is cool in the afternoon," Bats said. "My room is next to yours, on the left. If you want anything, knock on the door and if I'm not there leave a note and I'll call you when I come back. She may be going out for dinner. She may send for you. Your uniforms will be up later. You may have to wait a while in some, you being thinner than most."

Anne was alone. Second maid to Mrs. Adolph Hoag. In her room in the servant's quarters of Bois Joli, Palm Beach, Fla. This was to be her home—for how long she did not know. Strong little girl. Thank heaven the blue brush had spared it. Misty green, a spool bed, ample, with gay cretonne covers to match the curtains; a tiny writing desk; two chairs, one cushioned, with a reading lamp beside it; a small dresser with a vase for flowers on its glass top. Compared with her dark and dreary room in the boarding house where she had found when her funds ran so low she must practice the most stringent of economies, this room was a paradise.

She went to the window. The blue figure down by the garage was nowhere in sight. But the knowledge that she might look out at any time and find it there brought such a warmth to Anne's heart that she caught her breath and denied, hotly, that she had been looking for Carl Case. She must get her trunk, her bags, from the boarding house. She had brought only the clothes she wore. Perhaps Carl Case would help her bring them—there must be a station wagon or a small truck for general use.

At 1 o'clock Bats came to take Anne to lunch.

HONEYBEES AT HOME. II—Queen of the Hive.

"One queen for each hive!" That is the rule among honeybees. There should be no more than one, but there must be at least one.

Those who come early to avoid the crowds make the crowds.

THAT PAIR OF SHOES WILL LAST YOU A LIFETIME—AND I'M CONFIDENT YOU'LL COME HERE FOR YOUR NEXT!

POWER

THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION

INDEPENDENT AND UNBIASED
 NO PARTISAN INTERESTS
 NO EDITORIAL INTERESTS

Every morning, as if by magic, the sales power of The Constitution awakens and sets into motion the life-blood of commerce in the Atlanta market. From every section of Atlanta and the suburban area this powerful force ushers in the family buyers More than a hundred thousand strong, they come confidently to get the things they have been sold through the advertising pages of The South's Standard Newspaper.

The Coverage Of THE CONSTITUTION Is Unequaled By Any Other Atlanta Newspaper

The Constitution has a daily net paid circulation (6 months average) of 100,347. This is not only the largest total daily circulation in Atlanta but is also the largest daily circulation ever attained by any Atlanta newspaper.

The dominant leadership of The Constitution is further strengthened by the fact that 52,320 of its subscribers, in the city and trading area, (more than 50% of the total daily circulation) find it unnecessary to subscribe to any other Atlanta newspaper.

This exclusive circulation alone constitutes a market much larger than that of many other well-known cities—a dynamic comparison when you consider the coverage costs—the buying power.

See how The Constitution's exclusive circulation, going into the homes of 52,320 families, compares with the total number of families in the following cities:

| CITY | TOTAL FAMILIES* | CITY | TOTAL FAMILIES* |
|---------------------|-----------------|----------------------|-----------------|
| Birmingham (Ga.) | 22,425 | Charlotte (N. C.) | 19,243 |
